We can never know about the days to come . . .

But we think about them anyway.

I wonder if I'm really with you now or just chasing after some finer day.

And tomorrow we might not be together,
I'm no prophet,
I don't know nature's ways.

Anticipation, anticipation is making me late is keeping me waiting.

So I'll try and see into your eyes right now

*and stay right here,
'cause these are the
good old days.
these are the

Registration

Registration involved two new procedures for returning students and faculty, pre-registration by new arena scheduling and final registration when students return for the next year.

Arena scheduling was held on May 17, of last year so that student classes could be organized before the school year began. Guidance personnel, parents, and faculty members were stationed at tables in the student lounge. Each teacher's schedule of classes was posted behind the tables. Individual groups of students were admitted to the arena by seniority and alphabetically with the responsibility of determining their own class schedules.

On August 26, students picked up their schedules along with locker numbers. Payment of fees concluded the new registration process.

Homecoming

Homecoming began with many shouts of excitement as students worked hard to complete their floats before gametime.

The theme governing Homecoming was "200 Years of Warrior Spirit."

On Friday, rain soaked Heath Stadium was filled with Warrior faithfuls who saw their team downed 7-0.

This year's float award was presented to the Sophomore class for their replica of a log cabin representing the school.

Associated Student Body President Peter Mangan crowned Maggie Voiles as the 1975 Homecoming Queen to reign over the football game against Sprague and the special dance which followed.

Junior Miss Pageant

Poise, personality, and promise dominated the thoughts of six eager contestants as the Junior Miss Pageant began November 8. As the evening progressed, the girls expressed themselves in creative and performing arts, youth fitness, and poise and appearance. The Jaycee-ettes presented the Spirit of Junior Miss award to Clara Neill. First runner-up was Penny Johnston. But the never-ending smile of Caryn Carroll was just what the judges were looking for. Crowned by last year's Junior Miss, Sherrie Sue McAllister, Miss Carroll represented Lebanon at the state pageant.

Antigone

The fall production of "Antigone" was presented in the auditorium, November 20, 21, and 22. The Greek drama was adapted to French by Jean Anouilh and translated into English by Lewis Galentiere.

To give the play more impact, actors remained motionless on stage while the audience was being seated. No curtains were used and blue lighting cast the entire area in shadow. All acting was done on four different levels of platforms, and most of the stage was draped in black burlap.

Antigone was first performed during the German occupation of Paris in WWII. The strong moral of the story, echoed the French underground's motto of saying "no," even when saying no means death.

Nurse (Cindy Paetsch) listens as Antigone (Laura Salisbury) explains about her dog, Puff.

Band & Choral Concerts

Stage Band sax section practices on a difficult selection for an upcoming concert.

Many different styles of music were represented when the band and chorus combined their talents in a performance of varied selections.

The annual Christmas concert, held on December 16, reflected traditional songs of the season. An additional Christmas program was presented on December 19, by the Concert Choir and the Crescendos in the form of an all-school assembly.

On January 19, the Jazz Ensemble was featured in the Grant-Johnson memorial jazz concert, an annual event held to raise funds for the Grant-Johnson memorial music scholarship. Later concerts featured the advanced Girls' Glee and mixed chorus.

The Chairs

The winter plays, "An Evening with Ionesco," consisted of two one acts, "The Chairs" and "The Bald Soprano."

Eugene Ionesco was a modern playwright who experimented with the theater. He believed that the message a play conveyed was more important than plot or character. Only by following the actions of the players could the audience see or feel the message. Ionesco felt this to be a sign of thinking and communicating. This unusual effect created many questions for the audience.

In "The Chairs" an old man and an old woman have hired an orator to deliver their message to mankind. After inviting many friends and public officials, the old man and the old woman feel that their lives are fulfilled and they commit suicide. The orator turns out to be mute, leaving the audience to decipher the message to mankind. Student director Laura Salisbury proved to be a valuable asset.

Lost Lovers, the Fire Chief (Kelly Cleveland) and the Maid (Vicki Weldon), have found each other as Mrs. Smith (Pegi Altree) expresses contempt at their actions.

"The Bald Soprano" was a play utilizing the absurd rather than the realistic. Ionesco proved that dialogue is not essential in a play. By watching the actions of the players, the audience could see the message that all things in life are not rational. Student director Cindy Paetsch helped direct.

Spirit Week

Posters, signs and slogans decorated the halls reflecting the many hours spent by each class in preparation for Spirit Week.

During the week of January 26-30 colors of orange for freshmen, green for sophomores, blue for juniors, and red for seniors were used to determine which class had the most spirit.

Each class was given a day when they could challenge other classes, hold rallies, and demonstrate their spirit. Warrior day, a skateboard race, and a 50's day were some of the week's activities.

Halftime of the Lebanon-Crescent Valley game was the climax of the week. A tie between the sophomore and senior classes were announced. A victory over Crescent Valley ended the week on an upswing.

Home Room Spirit

Started by Mrs. Lorraine Strand's first period class, Home Room Spirit was designed to promote more school spirit.

Mr. Bill Frazier's class was the first to except the challenge of a balloon fight made by Strand's Strangers. The trophy was a stuffed doll which was kept in the room of the winner. It continued through the year with many different winners.

Twirp Week is a school tradition where the girl was required to pay for activities and carry books for the boys.

It started on Monday with Cowboy and Indian Day; Tuesday, Howard Cosell's Sports Spectacular; Wednesday, Sinister Sinema; Thursday, Happy Days; and Friday, Super Hero Day.

People who participated in the daily events ended the week with an enjoyable Friday or Saturday night evening.

Pep Assemblies

Pep assemblies were held to boost spirit and pride in sports. Participation of students at these assemblies was at a minimum because attendance was optional. Holding the assemblies in the morning between classes instead of at the end of the day was tried and it did bring up attendance.

At Pep Assemblies, which were held before most home football and basketball games, class competition was used to promote spirit. Such competition ranged from building human pyramids to a shoe scramble. Climaxing the year's Pep Assemblies with Spirit Week, cheerleaders and students wore clothing of the 1950's.

Hansel and Gretel

Natasha (Barb Cool) struggles to keep Staggio (Kelly Toomb) and Bulbov (Steve Adams) from fighting.

Gretel's mother (Barb Cool) tells Gretel (Patty Carder) of the good times ahead.

"Hansel and Gretel," a children's play by Moses Goldberg, was held in the cafeteria on May 7 and 8. There were two evening shows and one afternoon matinee. Being very flexible, the play was performed Commedia Dell'Arte, a band of traveling players. The actors tried to encourage the audience to participate by having children in the audience become part of the sets.

Seating was done in the round. Mats were placed on the floor in front of the chairs for children to sit on. A large chest that was carried on at the beginning of the play, supplied all costumes and props. Scenery consisted of three brightly painted cubes. Imagination turned the cubes into anything from a large dark forest to a witch's oven.

A.S.B. Elections

A campaign assembly, featuring skits and speeches, was held in the gym April 19 to introduce candidates running for next year's Student Body offices. On April 20, booths and posters were put up in the halls, and buttons were given to passing students.

All campaigning ended April 22, when voting took place in the morning and during the lunch hour. Closing of the polls revealed next year's officers: President, Kevin Tucker; Vice president, Patrice Barreto; Secretary, Karla Lenox; and Treasurer, Cathy Cline.

Graduation 1976

As graduation approached, the class of 1976 began thinking about what the future would be for them as individuals. Listening to an unknown voice they chose the motto, "Do not follow where the path may lead. Go, instead, where there is no path and leave a trail."

Keeping with the Bicentennial theme, red, white, and blue were chosen for their colors while the rose was selected as class flower. These colors highlighted the setting of the commencement exercises held June 3, 1976.

Academics

Administration

Headed by Dr. George Henderson, the administration was directly responsible for the welfare of the student body.

It was the administration's responsibility to hire teachers and handle student discipline. Evaluating the curriculum and making executive decisions were also handled by the administrators.

Problems resolved were tardies and absences of the student body. The administration brought up a new policy that flunked students for the semester if they had 15 excused absences or six unexcused absences.

The administration also considered improper parking and looked at the possibility of more parking space.

School Board

Directing body of the school was the School Board. Their purpose was to seriously study problems of the school and actions of the faculty and students.

Setting rules of behavior for students as well as for faculty members were important board duties. They also were in charge of paying bills and deciding on the school's budget. Nearly every action made by the school was the board's responsibility.

Some major concerns of the board this year were a new gymnasium, murals on the school hallways, and lunch menu prices.

Mr. Ken Vorderstrasse and Mrs. Marge Anderson discuss cafeteria problems.

Mr. Bob Bellinger contemplates an important issue.

Mrs. Fran Christensen stresses the importance of a problem.

Mrs. Dorothy Costa presses her point.

Instructional Resources

The Instructional Resource Center contained a useful library and an area where audiovisual material and equipment was on loan to students and teachers. Films, books, and other materials were filed on over 202,500 three by five index cards.

The audiovisual department had many films and records available. Over 825 hours of film were shown in school, helping students to better understand concepts taught to them.

More than 82,142 student hours were spent using the library-media center, and over 15,000 peices of material were checked out for further study.

The secretarial staff keeps the high school running smoothly and efficiently by keeping daily attendance, balancing club and class books, and assisting in registration.

Another important part of the secretarial day includes assisting office procedures students who must help in office duties to satisfy their requirements.

A pleasant atmosphere throughout the lunch hour was the aim of the cooks who worked together to provide nutritious, hot lunches for faculty and students.

Each cook had a certain job to do each day such as making salads or preparing a part of the approximately 310 meals to be served.

Custodians

Throughout the year the custodial staff worked many long hours maintaining the school and the adjoining grounds. The custodians' job was an important one that was too often overlooked by the school and the community. The custodians performed many necessary tasks during the day, and they worked long after students and teachers had gone home.

Cleaning halls, locker rooms, and classrooms were some routine duties accomplished by the custodians which reflected a true sense of pride toward the school.

Besides cleaning and keeping up repairs, custodians often personally aided both teachers and students.

Mr. Ron Peters replaces worn tiles on the auditorium stage.

The Maintenance Department headed by Mr. Jim Gillespie consisted of a staff of nine district-wide maintenance men, two groundsmen, and one warehouseman.

They were responsible for making repairs, remodeling, and construction. Some of their achievements were repairing restrooms, adding on more offices, and building new classrooms in the English department.

Groundsmen performed such duties as mowing lawns and landscaping while the warehouseman controlled school property.

Business

Business Department was recognized state-wide as one of the larger and more influential high school business programs. Its staff, with one new instructor, taught courses ranging from typing to distributive education.

The Student Store, open during the noon hour and the breakfast shop, open in the morning, were managed by experienced marketing students. This enterprise offered each student an opportunity to gain experience in several fields of business.

Instructors have coordinated their talents to plan and achieve an effective business program.

Fine Arts

Fine Arts Department consisted of the music and art classes. The music section strove to bring out individual talents in students. Through participation in numerous performances, students were encouraged in their efforts.

The art division was designed to foster creativity in students through painting, design, and crafts. Because of a variety in both departments, students were able to explore their own potentials.

Mr. Don Carroll checks his schedule to see if he has to work the next day.

The Guidance Department functioned to fulfill individual student needs which involved the staff in personal, academic, and vocational counseling. Each counselor worked in a specific area, such as schedule changes, social guidance, and work placement.

Another important area of guidance was the Health Department. The staff consisted of one part-time nurse and one full-time nurse who attended to daily illnesses and injuries.

Language Arts

Language Arts Department, under the direction of Mr. Chuck Kilborn, consisted of language courses for the Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors who have some credit classes also. Seniors took varied Language Arts courses for credit.

Teachers strove to create interesting classes while helping students improve reading abilities, punctuation, spelling, and writing skills.

Included in this department were such varied classes as Humanities, Creative Writing, and Mass Media. In addition, this department includes two foreign languages, German and Spanish, and it publishes "The Hi-Lite," the school newspaper, and "The Warrior," the yearbook.

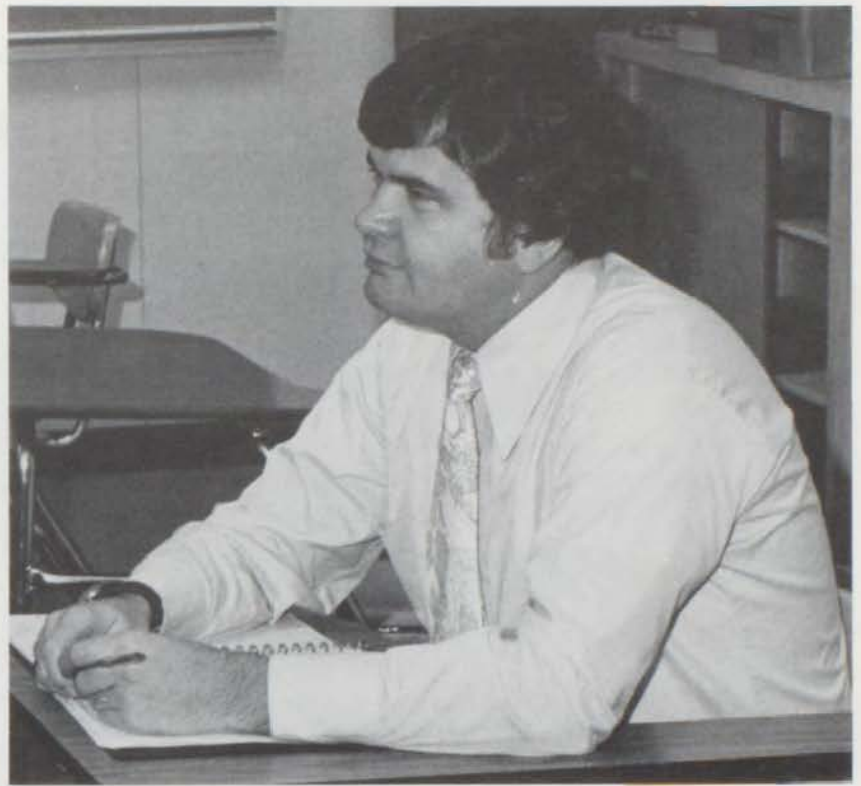

Elvia Victoria, Rotary Exchange Student from Mexico, finds the English language interesting.

Math

One of the more versatile subjects this year has been the Math Department. A wide variety of classes ranging from General Math to Math Analysis II proved to be a valuable contribution, adding to the success of the department.

The Math Department, under the direction of Mr. Richard Weisbrodt, provided for competency and instilled confidence in students. They were further encouraged to explore many math electives.

The addition of computers was an educational boon. These machines gave students the ability to solve difficult problems quickly with less error.

Freshmen are required to take a math class their first year, but later their math future is up to them.

Physical Education

Under the direction of Mrs. Gloria Knapp, the health classes became co-educational. A wider range of viewpoints and a better relationship between boys and girls was the program's goal.

P.E. time blocks were increased from three to four and a half weeks. The extension provided more time to concentrate on basic athletic skills. Weight training and better physical condition were gained by the increase.

Four new members were brought in as replacements to the department as coaches, P.E., and health teachers.

Science

Under the direction of Mr. Henry Burridge, the Science Department continued to offer new challenges in the varying fields of science. Biology, chemistry, environmental science, ideas and investigators in science were possible choices for students.

An Audio Tutorial Science Center was designed to include two classrooms previously separated. By combining three regular classrooms, individual students worked at their own speeds. Relating science to the real world by use of technical projects and other means helped students to understand and have fun with science.

Social Studies

The goal of the Social Studies Department, under the direction of Mr. Joe Hellberg, was to provide enough information to students so that they were capable of making adjustments that are necessary in the outside world. Courses included taxes, government, and world problems.

As prescribed by the State Board of Education, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors are required to take one credit in each of the Social Studies, Personal Finance, and Citizenship areas. These are needed to complete competency requirements as required by the state.

On May 19-21, many students attended the Mock Democratic Convention held in Portland, Oregon. This convention involved over 4,000 students from all over Oregon. The convention met to nominate a candidate for president from the Democratic Party to run in the 1976 Presidential Election. At the convention every aspect of the real convention was duplicated. Every student who attended benefitted by practicing the Democratic processes.

Vocational Education

Vocational Education Department consists of metal and wood shops, power mechanics, electricity, drafting, and driver education. Again, this program's high standards of instruction have brought recognition to the school as being one of the finest vocational programs in the state and nation.

One of the larger projects each year has been on the shoulders of the building construction crew. With funds provided by the school district and direction provided by Mr. Chuck Porfily one new home has been constructed each year.

There are many electives in the Vocational Department with instructors well qualified to keep this program at it's peak.

Home Economics

Home Economics students, assistants, and teachers were busy this year preparing new recipes and planning new projects.

An innovation this year saw eleven boys enrolled in a variety of Home Economics classes. It is hoped that in the future more boys will become interested.

For a practical learning experience one of the Home Economics rooms was carpeted and painted by the students.

Special Education

Special Education Department is geared for students who need extra help in building skills and in doing their school work. The main problem these students face consisted of severe reading disabilities. Problems such as these, keep students from attending regular classes.

The goal is for a higher reading level. If they can achieve this goal, they can advance their participation in regular classes.

Concert Choir was composed of students with varied singing talents, and the Fall, Christmas, and Spring concerts during the year provided a chance for members of the choir to exercise their musical talents.

Singing under the direction of Mr. Peter Butler, the Concert Choir performed a wide range of musical styles from classical to modern.

During December, the choir traveled to Portland's Lloyd Center where they gave a special concert featuring several corols in honor of the Christmas season.

During spring vacation in March, Concert Choir spent their time on a singing tour which has become a traditional event.

Mixed Choir

Mixed Choir was composed of freshman and sophomore students who were picked by Mr. Peter Butler on the basis of their singing ability. The group contributed their musical talents to the community with a wide medley of songs starting with the Fall Concert. Later, along with other vocal groups in the high school, they sang during Christmas and in the Spring Concerts where they entertained parents, students, and faculty.

After taking the Mixed Choir class, the 26 members may advance to Concert Choir, and girls may go on to Advanced Girls' Glee.

Choir Ensemble consisted of select students from advanced choir classes. Calling themselves the Crescendos, they performed at the fall, Christmas, and spring concerts.

The group's musical selections ranged from an eighteenth century Madrigal to an original composition entitled "Look for Something Good," written by Dave Miller, one of the Crescendos.

Conducted by Mr. Peter Butler, choir director, the Crescendos sang for such community groups as the Kiwanas and the Optomists clubs. During Lebanon's Junior Miss pageant, the Crescendos presented several of their numbers for the program.

Throughout the year, the Crescendos participated in such money-making projects as catching chickens and selling turquoise jewelry to finance their annual spring singing tour.

Stage Band

To become a member of Stage Band, each student had to demonstrate his musical ability through an audition or have been in the group the year before. Besides having a proven musical talent, each member must express a willingness to put forth the effort necessary to make Stage Band successful.

Art

The Art Department expanded its facilities in order to offer a wider range of art courses.

New courses included printmaking, textiles, and photography. Photography class, called Photo Communications Seminar was designed and taught by Mr. Don Erikson. It taught basics of photography and indicated the many opportunities available through photography.

Through extended offerings the Art Department was able to satisfy the needs of more students.

Theater Arts

Mrs. Susan Hamer observes as her theater class block out a play.

Theater Arts emerged from a desire to bring about a better understanding of theater and to involve as many people as possible in the program. Three classes were offered, Theater Arts I, Theater Arts II, and Technical Theater.

Theater Arts I and II covered a full year. The courses concentrated on developing acting talent and techniques of directing.

Lasting half a term, Technical Theater concerned itself with the management of backstage properties. Lights, make-up, costumes, set construction, and design were taught.

Running through halls and checking doors, fire stations, and fire extinguishers were the major responsibilities of the Fire Squad. Monthly meetings lead by Fire Chief Kathy Douthett were held to check on fire escape plans and other problems that arise during a fire drill. Other special meetings included a planning party during December and a Pizza Feed in February.

Other activities included selling programs at the home basketball games and having identification cards and Fire Squad T-shirts made for members.

German Club

Furthering knowledge of German culture was a main German Club goal. The club gained this knowledge by participating in German oriented events and visiting the Foreign Language Department of Portland University.

A combined Spanish-German Club dinner was undertaken as a money-making project in the spring. The dinner was also devised to give an authentic look at the customs of the German people.

Meetings were held every two weeks where some German was spoken to provide a realistic German atmosphere.

Irrational Set is a group of advanced math students whose objectives lie with using and furthering their own mathematical knowledge. One of the clubs most noted projects was sponsoring a scholarship for a worthy candidate who plans to pursue a career in some field of mathematics. Funds were derived mainly through cleaning the student lounge. Members fed their growing interests concerning the use of electronics in math by visiting various colleges in the area to review the computer science curriculum.

Key Club

Actively providing community and school service projects appeared to be the theme of Key Club. With a club of over fifty members, many projects were possible. During the year members worked on the bicycle racks, changed the coming events sign, and operated a community recycling center. Later in the year Key Club sponsored a Christmas party for underprivileged children and held two joint Key Club-Kiwanis breakfasts.

President Kerry Kilborn and advisor John MacNeill led the club in many fund-raising projects which included selling Bicentennial pins, selling cheese, and working in the Pronto Pup booth at the home football games. This fund raising supported the club's projects.

Senior Dave Phelps points out the importance of Aviation Club to Steve Rex and Walter Simmons.

Aviation Club was organized for students interested in working with and studying airplanes. Mr. John Foster advised and instructed the flying enthusiasts. Material taught were science of navigation, weather, and map reading. The annual model airplane competition was held requiring hard work and dedication of each club member.

Members visited a number of airports, both individually and as a group, to observe methods of operations. Differences and similarities of the airports were later discussed and evaluated.

Octagon Club

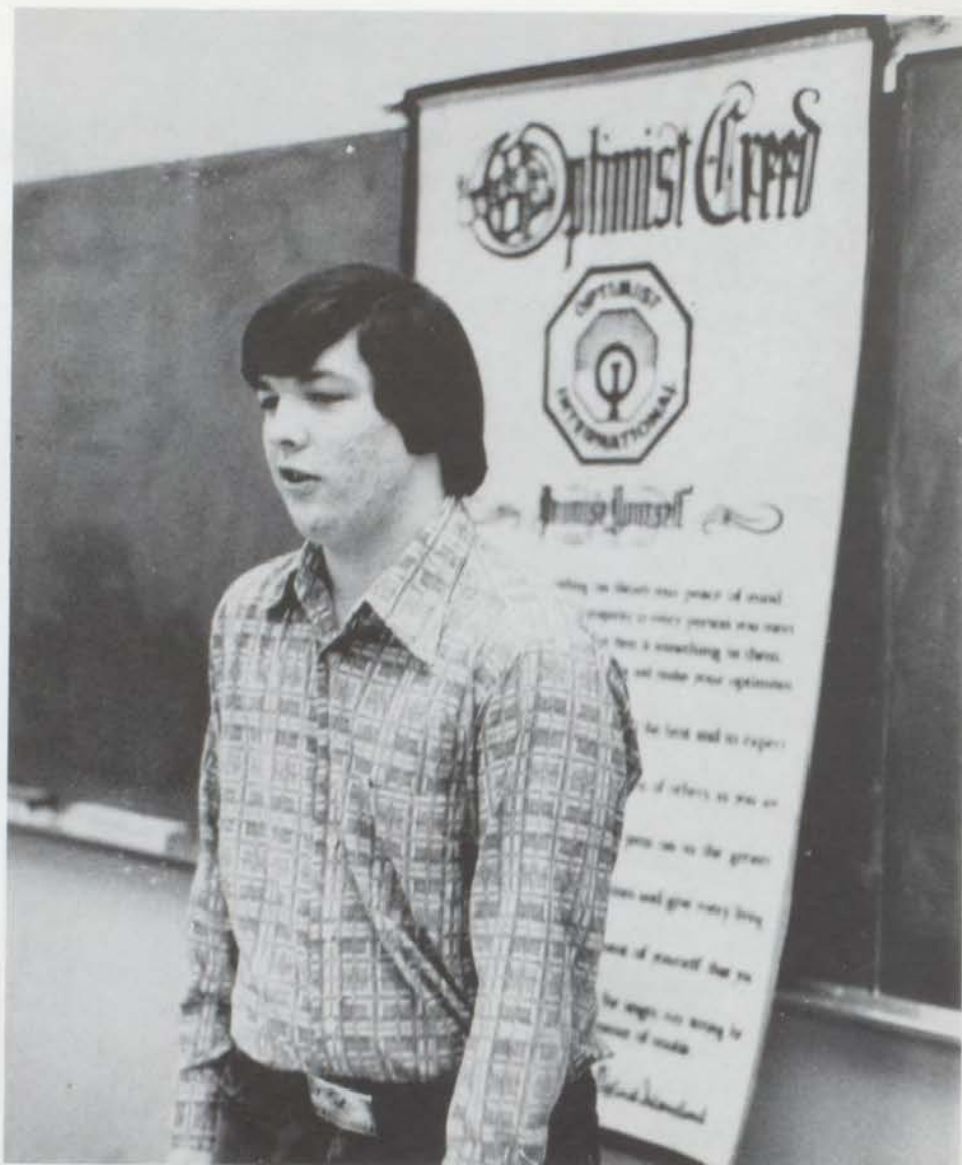

Octagon Club was a growing and interesting organization which was sponsored by the Optimists.

The small but active group of high school students were busy throughout the year volunteering their services by painting numbers on street curbs, making favors for the Nursing Homes, and helping to improve the community of Lebanon.

Officers were President: Cory Hibbert, Vice president: Audene Miller, Secretary: Connie Olson, and Advisor: Jerry Cash.

Row 3: Kathy Adams, Becky Hainz, Clara Neill, Velvet Grissom, Patty Garcia, Laurie Evans, Melanie Bradley, Teresa Danner, Angela Barnes, Linda Gore, Barb Ostermann, Vickie Headley.

Raising school spirit was a goal taken by Pep Club members. This year it was achieved in a year-round program. During the fall and winter sports seasons, members participated as a group at games and pep assemblies and aided the rallies with cheers. In the spring, attention was given to those sports which usually go unnoticed, such as tennis and golf.

Spirit Week, held January 26-30, was a highlight of the year. Class competition and challenges, posters, rallies and pep assemblies were some of the activities which gave school spirit an all time high.

Pep Club members Mary Ellen Machamer, Ruth Fothergill, and Wendy Gardner cheer the basketball players on to another victory.

Spanish Club

Genevra Oliver voices her opinion during a Spanish Club meeting.

Throughout the school year Spanish Club was busy raising money through bake and candle sales. They used the money for field trips and for club projects.

They met about two or three times each month to discuss activities.

They had parties which were usually in a Spanish style. And to make the club more interesting, they invited guest speakers to talk about things that are going on in other countries.

Student government entered into a new period of objectives and goals. Although still composed of Senate, House of Representatives, and Inter-Activities Council, Student government analyzed the jobs of these different branches to improve the productivity of the government as a whole. The government also opened new areas of interest such as closer communication with faculty, administration and even more importantly, the surrounding community. All of these programs were a part of the government's attempt to realize its position and potential through the utilization of the human resources around it.

Thespians

Self expression describes the Thespian Troupe best. In theater there are many ways to accomplish this. Acting, lights, make-up, and set construction are open to both old and new talent.

Besides the three plays produced this year, Thespians also worked for the community. They did anything, from being victims for a mock disaster held for the hospital, to running lights and curtains for vocal and musical concerts.

Health Careers

Working at the hospital, nursing homes, and Day Care Center were some of the many activities taken on by Health Careers Club. Members volunteered their services in these areas after school in order to gain experience in various health occupations. Other activities included working at the Bloodmobile for Easter Seals in the spring.

Shriner's Hospital, Good Samaritan School of Nursing, and the School for the Deaf and Blind were observed on field trips. These visits gave members a closer look at the professional aspects of various health careers.

Different health careers were topics for each of their monthly meetings. Guest speakers were invited to attend these meetings and added their experiences to the topics being discussed.

Directed by Mrs. Patsy Smith, the six cheerleaders worked long hours after school, at pep assemblies, and at athletic events promoting school spirit and cheering for varsity athletic teams. The girls attended a five-day competitive cheerleading clinic at Lewis and Clark in July to achieve better skills and techniques where they were judged on spirit, accuracy, and appearance. For a job well done they received a superior trophy and various ribbons.

The Varsity Rally Squad not only supported athletics, they also worked at the baseball concession stand last summer at the home baseball games and worked on getting the entire student body actively involved.

The Warriors suffered through a winless grid season where often they were out-classed, but they never threw in the towel.

Gary Yates, in his first year at the Warrior helm, instilled a competitive spirit into his athletes. The Warriors often the smaller club in the grid battle, overcame their lack of size with hustle and an intense desire to succeed.

With the coaching change came a new offensive attack for the Warriors - the wishbone. It is designed to draw a crowd in the middle of the field enabling fleet halfbacks to run outside. The wishbone proved to be an exciting and fun-to-watch offense.

Although winning is an obvious objective, the idea of football is to be competitive and when you walk off the field, know you did the best you could.

J. V. Football

Brave coach, Dick Weisbrodt stresses a point.

The Brave Squad played an aggressive, gang-tackling style of defense finishing the season with a 5-4 record.

On offense they proved to be a team with the power to run the pigskin up the middle. When the opposition shifted to shut off an inside running game, the J. V. Squad had the speed to get outside.

The Braves had the ability to sustain a time-consuming drive and the quickness to break a back loose for a long gain. When forced into a long yardage situation, the Braves had the versatility to complete the pass.

With the experience they acquired playing junior varsity, many of these gridders will step in and help future squads.

A winning attitude was developed resulting in the Braves coming off the field victors more times than not.

Gymnastics

Under the guidance of first year coaches, Nancy Harle and Mike Coury, gymnastics was turned into a year-round project with practice being extended to include summer months.

Besides having a fine seasonal record of 6 wins and 2 losses, the girls' team placed fourth at district. Two Sophomore team members, Traci Hildebrand and Sandy Hanten, qualified for state.

The boys ended the season with improved performances. Coach Mike Coury pointed out Paul Hoover and Tom Helvie as being future prospects and commented — "We're looking to a better season next year."

The sophomore basketball team finished the year with an impressive 14-7 record.

Led by coach Dean Cole the Scouts employed a stingy man to man defense. The Scouts pressed their foes all over the court and tried to speed up the tempo of the game.

On offense the Scouts had the speed to run the fast break. But if a shot wasn't there, they had the ability to set up a pattern.

These athletes achieved success by hard work and discipline. Hopefully, they will step up to Varsity and help make future Warrior teams successful.

J.V. Wrestling

The Lebanon JV wrestling team encountered another year of success. The JV's exemplified the wrestling program in Lebanon by being the aggressor in the matches.

In tournaments the JV's proved that the Warrior wrestling program has excellent depth. Depth makes the difference between good teams and poor teams, and traditionally Lebanon has won on their depth.

After competing a year of JV wrestling, the grapplers gained experience that will enable them to be winners.

These athletes should step up the line and get the district title back to Lebanon.

Scott Pulliam gains an advantage over an enemy wrestler.

Under the watchful eye of coach Jim Phillips the frosh wrestling team had a successful season.

The idea of freshman wrestling is to get a taste of fierce competition. The freshmen were taught to be aggressive on the mat.

One wrestler showing unlimited potential was Mitch Johnson. He competed on varsity for a few matches.

Getting a strong foundation in wrestling is important in establishing a winning program. The freshman learned the basics of wrestling and the importance of competing.

With the experience and knowledge they gained, the freshmen should be a strong wrestling class. Hopefully they will move up and help the varsity continue to be a winning program.

Despite the unusually small turnout, the tankers had a fair season which they demonstrated with the girls record at 6-5 and the boys showing 9-1-1. "I think this was the smallest turnout for swim team we've had for 10 years," commented Coach John Foster. "But we were ready for district."

At district, the boys took fourth and the girls placed fifth. Senior Coyne Foster qualified for state and placed 14th in the 50-yard free-style. He sums the year with "It was fun!"

Mark Kirkelie takes a deep breath during the fifty free style.

Diving

Despite being limited in size and lacking in school interest, the divers performed well at their meets. With eight veterans and one rookie making up the team, their experience came in handy with competition for a state title. Under the direction of coach Gloria Knapp, sophomore Gary Cox was able to compete in the state meet. With the majority of the team being sophomores, future years for divers looked promising.

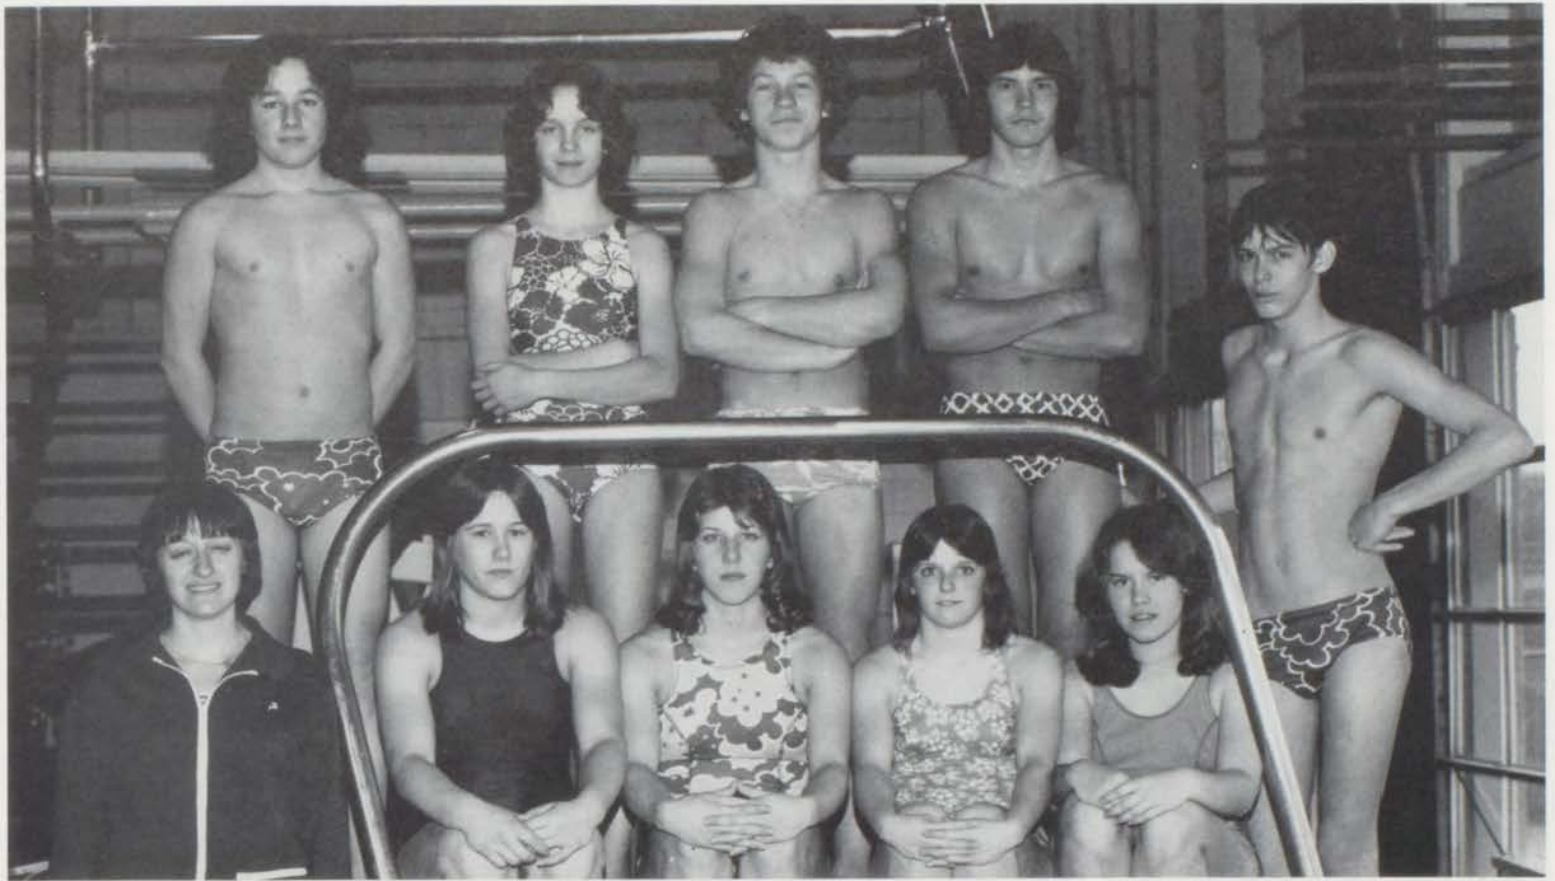

Mimi Denker concentrates on her warm up position during practice.

Coach Dave Dufault in his first year as the Warrior track coach had the largest turnout the sport has had at LUHS in recent years.

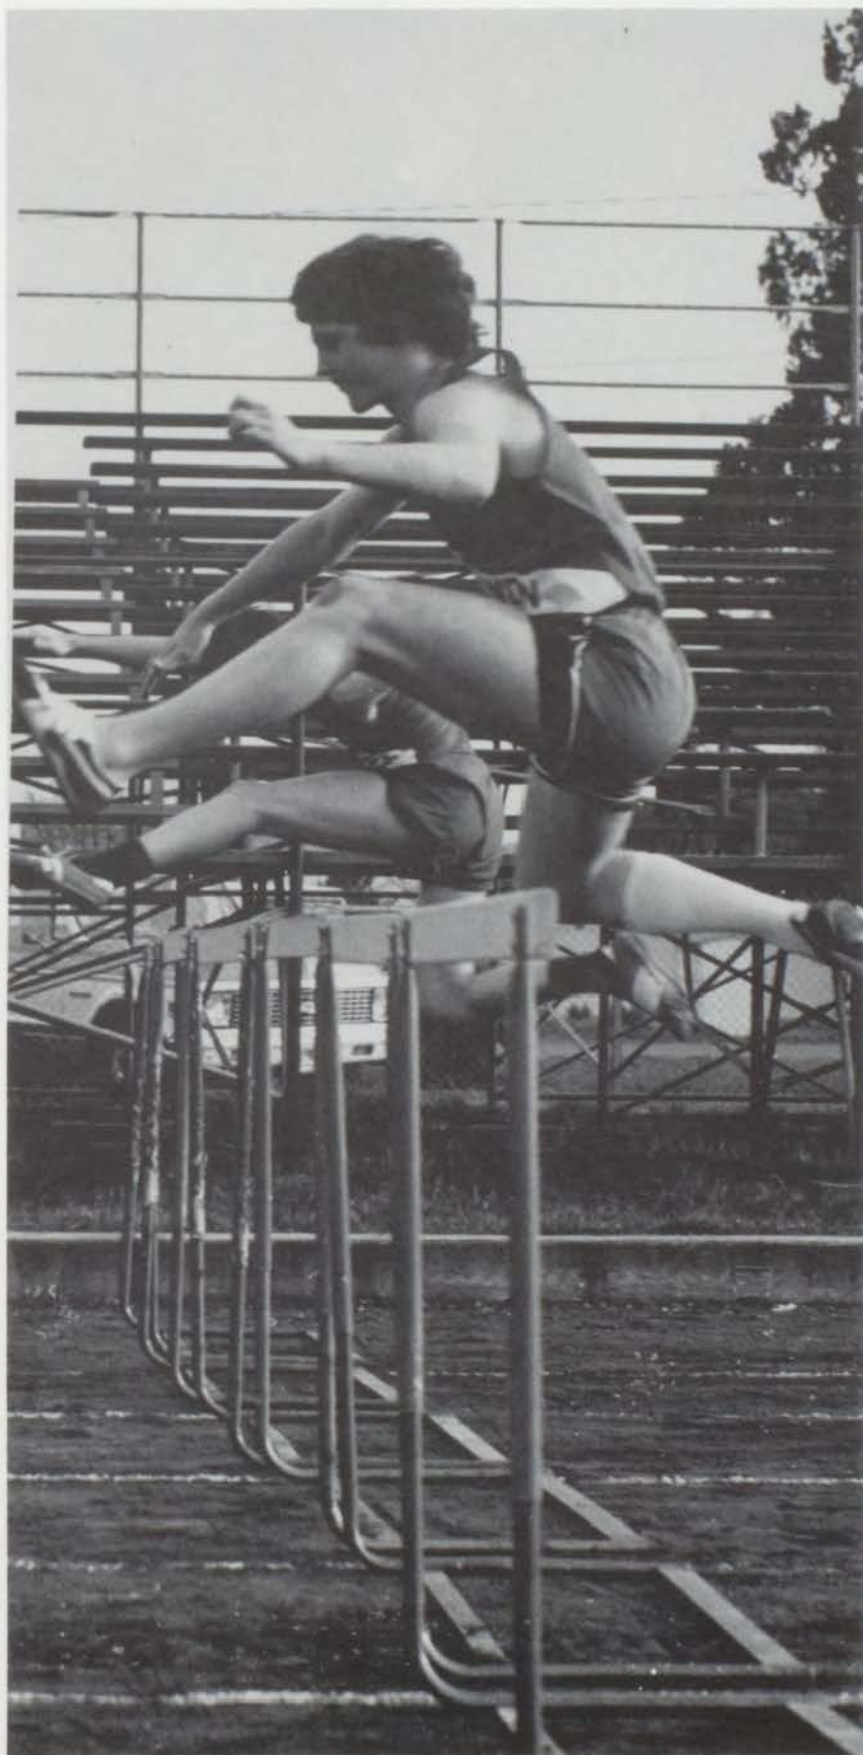

With the large turnout the Warriors had depth, something that Warrior teams have lacked in the past.

One outstanding performer was sophomore sprinter Dwight Middleton. Middleton broke the school record in the 100-yard dash.

With the majority of the team being sophomores or juniors Warrior track fortunes look good.

Brian Castle clears the bar in the high jump.

Sophomore Lonnie Benham skims over the second hurdle.

Delbert Palmer begins his kick in the 880.

Girls Track

Losing the first meet of the season for the first time in four years didn't dampen team spirit. With Gail Byers and Nancy Harle coaching, the team excelled in both field and running events. The Varsity proved to be fierce competitors with eight returning lettermen.

In spite of constant rain, practices were held every night in the gym or on the track. Calisthenics and weightlifting were part of the practice schedule. This produced a well-rounded team for both field and running events.

Jill Hackstedt strains to finish first at a meet against West Albany.

Kari Kirkelie gains a few extra feet in the long jump.

Coach Gail Byers checks her stopwatch with the other timers.

Becky Moseman and Kari Kirkelie wait for the starting gun.

Trina Marvin concentrates on form while she throws the discus.

J.V. Track

The JV track team displayed an intense desire to excel in the sport. The team molded all of its individual talents to the good of the squad.

The JV tracksters worked hard at perfecting their skills in practice so when the meets came, they were prepared.

These athletes recognized the worth of hard work and dedication as they recognized no limits during training.

With the experience they obtained by competing in JV track, these competitors should move up to Varsity and help the Warrior track program.

Frosh Track

Rusty Middleton hands the baton to a fellow Warrior.

Freshman track is a year when coaches try to find the strengths and weaknesses of certain athletes.

Coach Ron Ogelsby tried to evaluate each competitor. After visualizing their strengths and weaknesses, he attempted to put them in a spot where they would most help the squad.

Freshman track gave the athletes a taste of high school competition and prepared them for the future. The freshmen entered each meet with a positive approach, thinking they would emerge winners.

If those athletes continue to display dedication and competitiveness, the Lebanon track program should turn into a winner.

Varsity Baseball

The Lebanon Warrior baseball team was composed mainly of juniors. Only three seniors, Bill Ray, Rock Ford and all-league outfielder Doug Henderson were on the squad.

At times the Warrior's lack of experience showed. They overcame this with hustle and determination.

One of the Warrior's strengths was a solid pitching staff. Ray proved to be one of the premiere pitchers in the Valley League.

The Warrior's outfield, anchored by Henderson in centerfield, was one of the best in the league.

With the majority of the team returning the future looks good for Warrior baseball.

J.V. Baseball

Under the direction of coach Mike Wilkinson the JV baseball team proved to be a group of competitors.

The club wouldn't settle for anything short of victory. The games they lost they fought to the end and kept their intensity despite the constant Oregon rain.

Junior second baseman Joe Pederson gave the Braves leadership and experience in the infield. Pederson was a sure fielder and an excellent bunter.

With the experience gained playing JV baseball these athletes should make future Warrior teams successful.

Joe Pederson takes a wicked cut at the ball.

Frosh Baseball

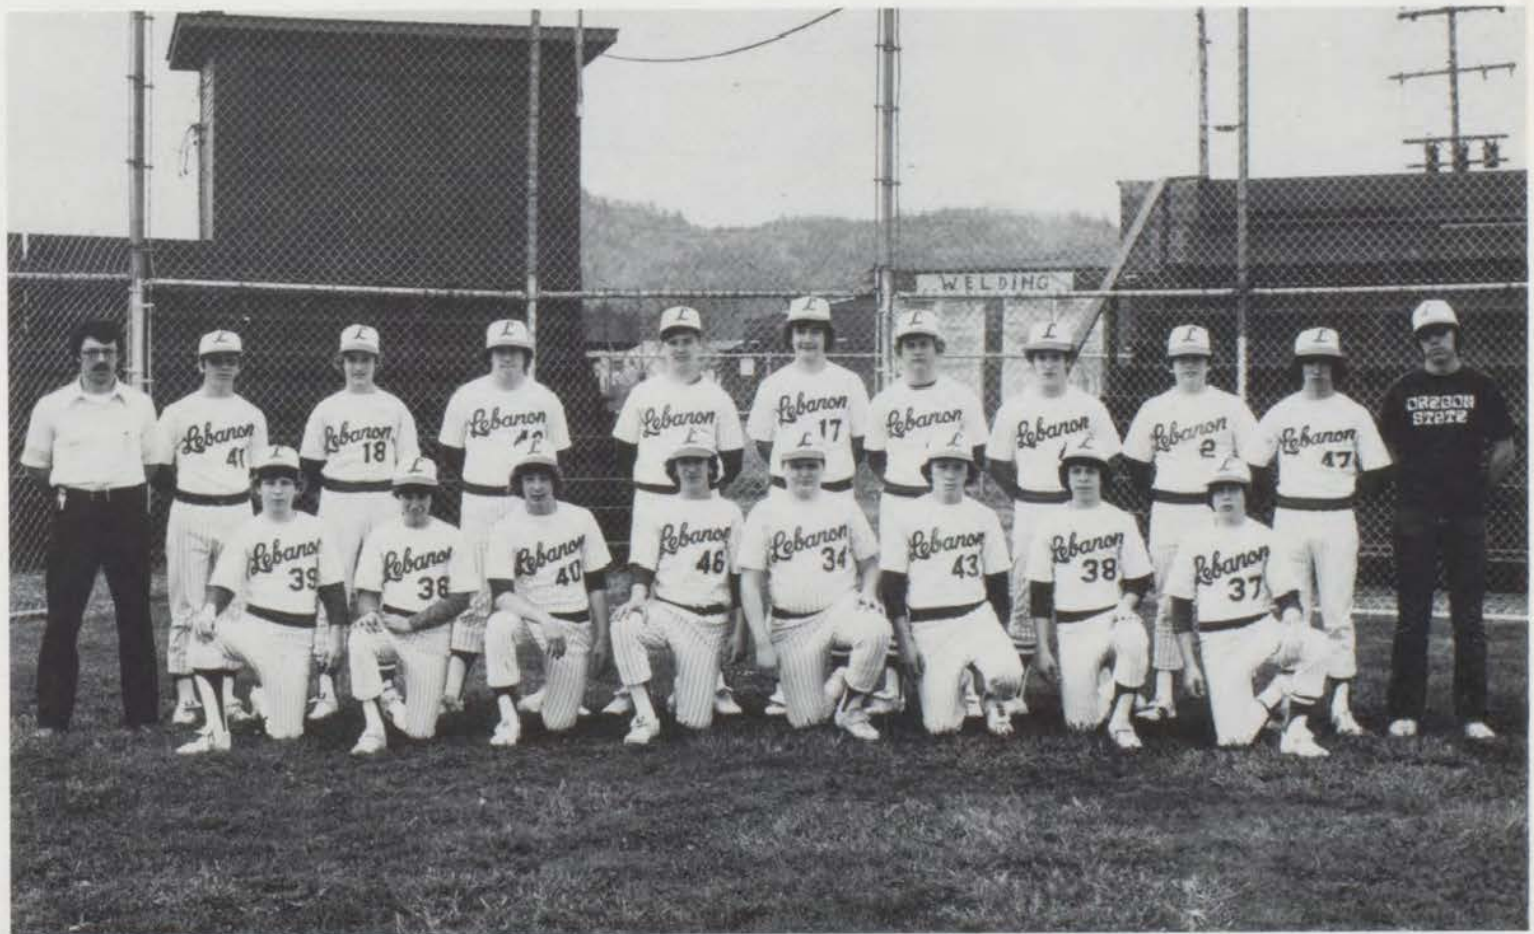

Coach Roy Humphrey calls for help from the bullpen.

Despite constant rain Lebanon's frosh baseball team got a chance to display their talents on the field.

The frosh proved to be a team with sound defense and an explosive offense at times. The pitching staff was a solid group of hurlers.

Coach Roy Humphrey tried to get the club to learn the fundamentals of the game. After they learned the basics, they progressed to more complex activities.

With these athletes getting a firm foundation in baseball, future Warrior teams appear to be strong.

The Warrior golf team started with an excellent turnout of 25 members including one returning letterman, Ken Richey. For the first time girls were a part of the team. They were Mickie Glasser, Genevra Oliver, and Frankie Glasser.

Coaching was under the direction of Mr. Bill Ford and assistant coach Mr. Jim Phillips. As it was a building year for the team, fundamentals of golf along with individual skills and techniques were stressed.

Scott Gibson and Bob Bewley practice on the driving range.

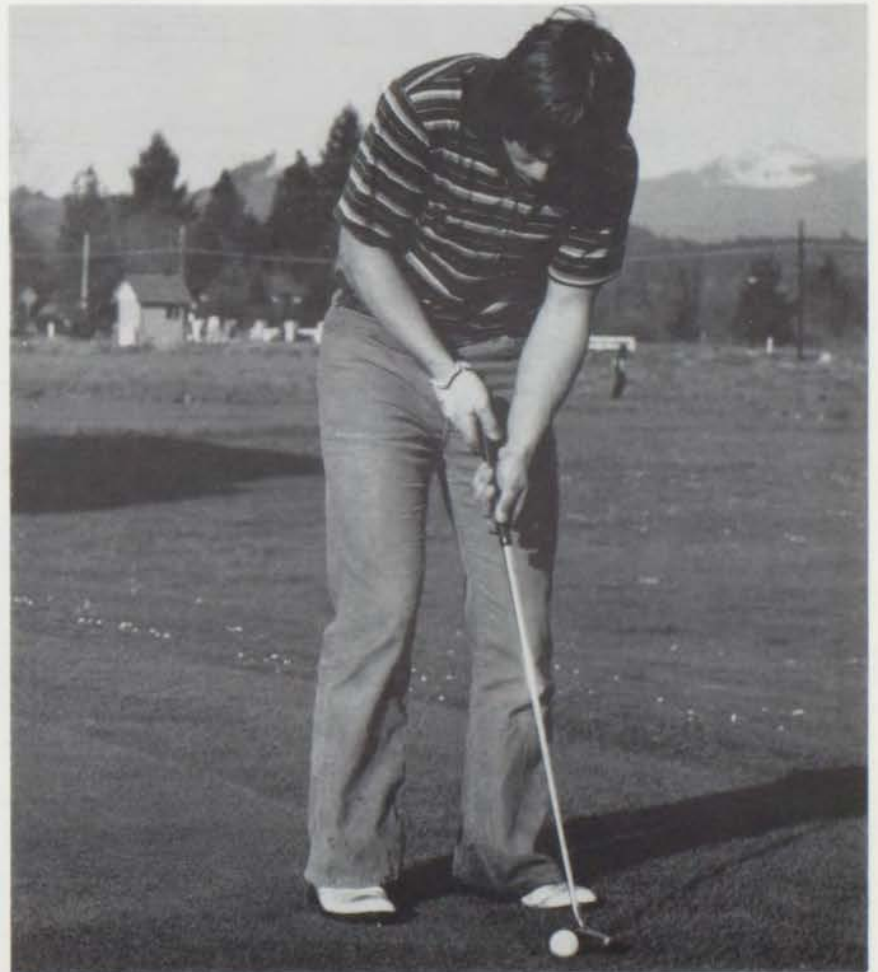

Alan Morgan puts power into a drive.

Jim Seaking works on he chip shots.

Dale McAllister finishes up on the green.

Dan Baxley lines up a putt.

Boys' Tennis

With John Nadig as coach, the boys' tennis team improved despite bad weather. Five returning lettermen helped add to the confidence of the team. Pete Burseson and Dave Phelps excelled as doubles partners, winning numerous matches.

To continue the proficiency of the boys' team, members competed during the summer in the Junior Wightman Cup Tournament. With constant emphasis on practice, the team continued to be tough Valley League opponents.

Dave Phelps executes a forehand drive.

Alan Grove awaits the return of a serve.

Kerry Kilborn smashes a forehand serve.

Girls' Tennis

Jean McPherson executes a stinging serve.

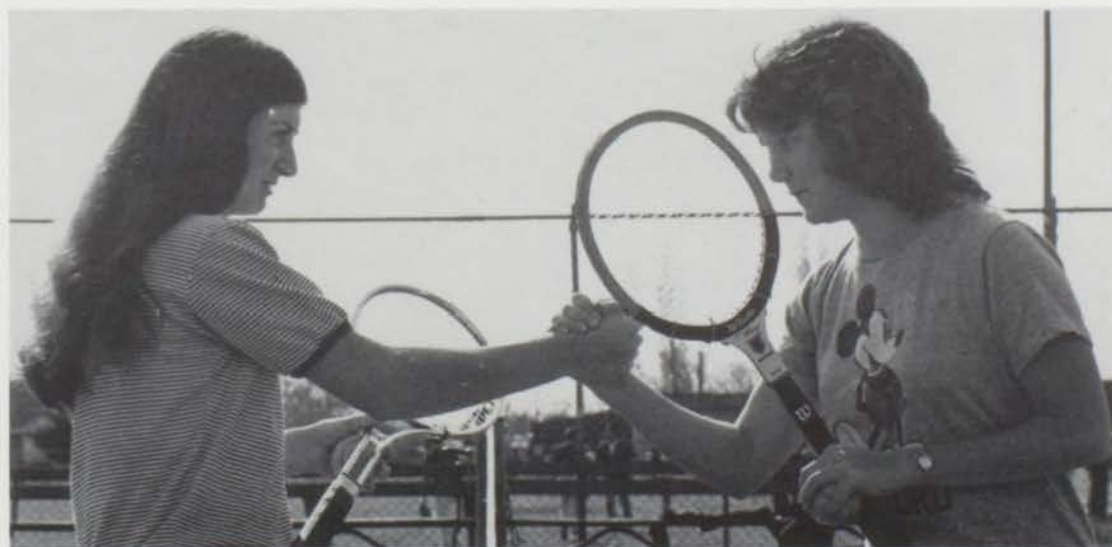

Joan Flora returns the ball with a powerful forehand.

Karla Lenox follows through with her backhand stroke.

Teresa McAuliffe and Susan Scott shake hands after a match.

Under the guidance of thrid year tennis coach Linda Lunceford, more emphasis was placed on calisthenics. Most practices were held indoors because of wet weather, but it didn't dampen team spirit.

With returning lettermen Jean McPherson, Linda Womack, Susan Scott and Teresa McAuliffe making up Varsity, the girls proved to be stiff competition in league play.

One new addition to the team was a ball machine with which the boys and girls practiced indoors. The girls also made matching outfits with strawberries on the pockets.

And tomorrow, we may not be together...

Four years. It went by so fast. One day we were freshman; sensitive, unsure, trying to fit in, and now we're seniors; restless, hopeful, but still unsure sometimes.

It's really hard to say goodbye for the last time.

"We'll keep in touch," we say. But we won't. We'll each go our own ways and we'll make new friends to fill the spaces left by the old ones. We will be in new surroundings and this time now will become less and less important to us. That's kind of hard to face, but it's not something to be sad about. It's just part of growing; changing and moving on. The things to think about now are the days to come. The new adjustments, the challenges we'll face.

So, let's be glad for the good times we spent and the friends we made, but then let them go, little by little, to make room for tomorrow.

*People change
They go away
I can't help it if I want to stay*

*cause I've made some friends and they're good to me.
It's really hard to set them free.*

*But I have to leave
I have to grow
Cause there are so many things
I still don't know*

*So look at me
And keep a smile
For the times we spent for a little while.*

Neil Caithness is caught taking money out of his mother's purse.

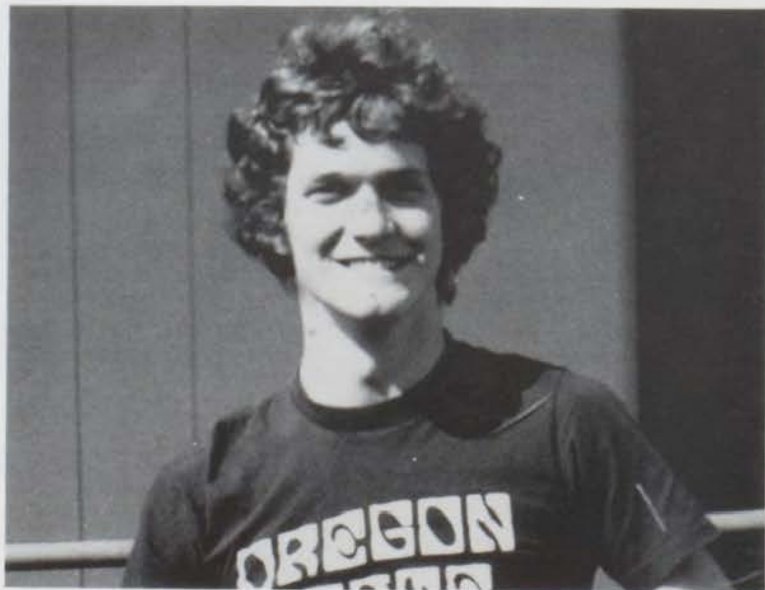

Dear Friends,

As I write, the memories come back as if they happened yesterday. I remember my first day here, and the day I met you, and I felt myself grow in this friendship. Soon I will leave and return home, but now I have a home here in Oregon too. I will remember the forests, the lakes, and the mountains, but mostly I will remember friendship. Living among you has made me happy. I have learned much, and the experience of learning and understanding will carry on.

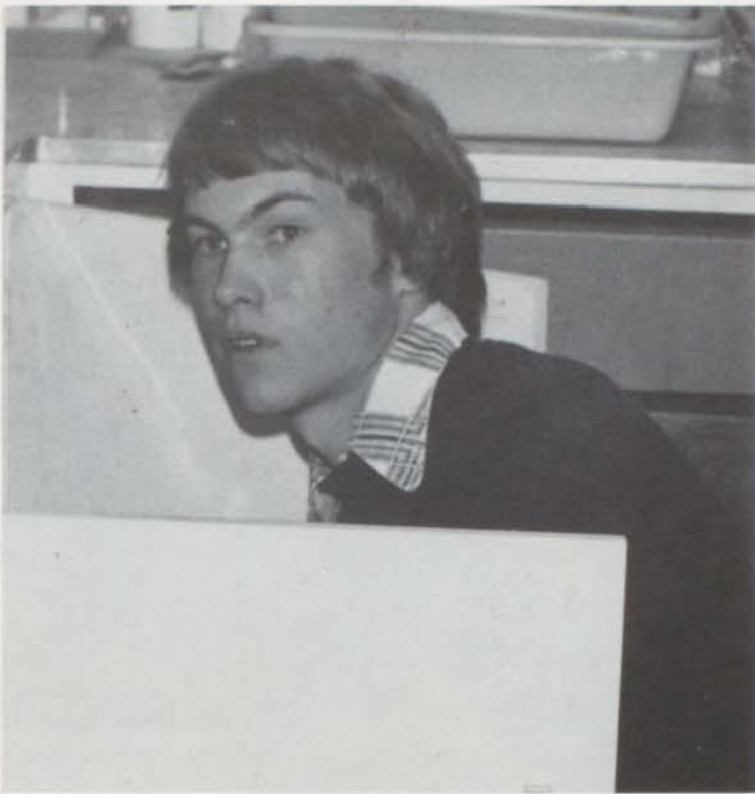

"Walk together, talk together, all ye people of the earth, Then and only then shall we have peace."

Love,

Neil Caithness

Neil Caithness reflects on his stay in the states.

Kerry Kilborn gets some supplies for his physics class.

Traveling is an enriching experience where ever you may go. New sights, new sounds, new tastes and new people await you around the world and around the corner. Contact with "foreign" people fosters understanding and awareness, commodities the world could use more of. The American Field Service is responsible for a new chapter in the book on human equality and unity. The AFS motto speaks volumes: "Walk together, talk together, all ye people of the earth. Then only then shall ye have peace."

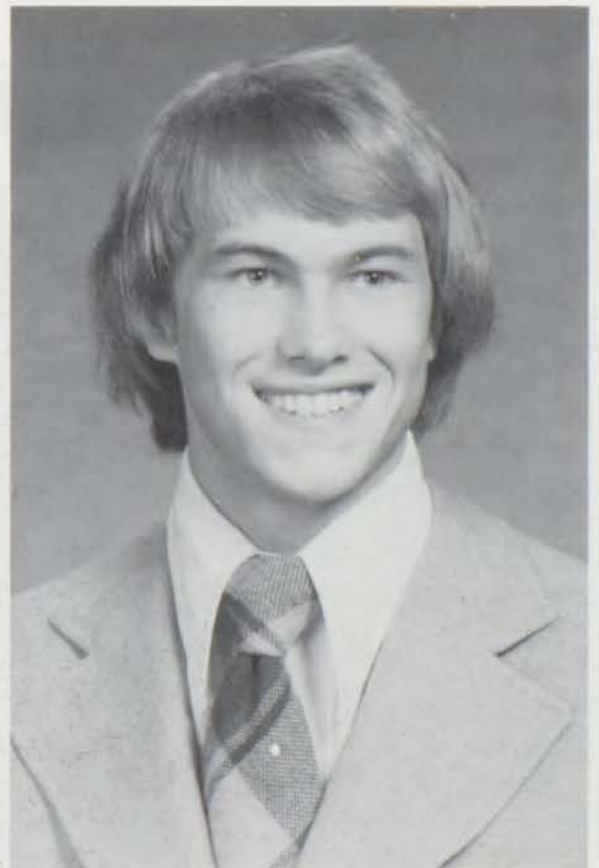

As part of the AFS program, I feel a responsibility to relate to everyone this aspect of the experience as well as the personal aspects. For me, AFS means people: memories, relationships, friendships, and much more. My stay in Germany also gave me an insight into another culture, another language, and a look at a world that is forever growing smaller. I met many new people and learned many new things, including a few things about myself. It's certainly an experience I'll never forget.

Continue to support AFS, and you will continue to support world understanding, to expand the knowledge and appreciation of people everywhere, and maybe even make a lifelong friend.

Auf Wiedersehen,
Kerry

Kerry Kilborn checks out information on Germany from the library.

Dewayne prepares a presentation about his stay in Spain.

Being an AFS student isn't easy. But it gives you a chance to explore new horizons, such as strange airports at 3:00 in the morning and suitcases that expel clothing throughout the baggage claim area. And all of this happened before I even left the United States. However, once I arrived in Spain, I expected things to run much smoother but I was wrong. I was continually surprised by subway doors that tried to sever parts of my body away and people who insisted that I have a complete command of the language after only a 24 hour stay in the country. But if I were to do it again, I wouldn't change any of it because the warmth and humor of the Spanish people taught me to laugh at myself and my mistakes. I discovered a special love that exists among friends that is all too rare in the world today. I was very fortunate to experience this love, and I extend my thanks to AFS for making it possible. I only wish every one could have the opportunity I had.

Love

Rotary Exchange

Dear Friends,

One of the greatest experiences in my life has been to come to the United States to learn the language and the customs that were almost unknown to me.

It has made me extremely warm and happy to find a really kind people in this wonderful place.

I would like to give thanks to teachers and students for their help. I learned not only the language but also the classes and a new way of life.

I am going to Mexico with a really good impression of Lebanon, and I will leave part of my heart here. I will always remember that there are no barriers that friendship can't overcome.

Autographs

*Time it was,
And what a time it was,
It was.....
A time of innocence,
A time of confidences.
Long ago...it must be...
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories;
They're all that's left you.*

LEM — Lebanon's domination in girls Valley League

For Fisher and Marvin their distances were lifetime bests.

Over in the long jump pit it was Carrie Buchanan, Debbie McDonald and Diane Spady finishing first, second.

through a brisk wind to tie the meet record she set a year ago of 36.0.

Lebanon's relay teams defended last year's wins. The 400 team of Spady, Deanna Crenshaw, Debbie Middleton the mile with a 6:04.3 clocking.

Lebanon will send nine girls to defend their championship Friday and Saturday at Springfield. Two relay teams, long jumpers Buchanan and McDi

*When time who steals our years away
Shall steal our pleasures too,
The memory of the past will stay
And half our joys renew.*

Dear Readers:

When you look through these pages I hope that you will find something that produces a pleasant memory. Maybe something you didn't realize about our school will reflect off these pages too. Here is your annual and you know what to do with it. Enjoy it!

To My Staff:

I just would like to say that four years ago I had no idea I would experience such an "undescrivable" senior year with 17 other unique people, such as you. It is over and what a relief! But, it is sad to think that we will never be together as a staff again. Thank you for working as hard as you did amidst constant hassles. I hope you all will experience a feeling of pride when you look at these pages and realize your importance to their existence. Yes, it did come out in the end.
