WARRIOR 1979

Lebanon Union High School

Volume XLVII

There is an endless net of threads throughout the universe. The horizontal threads are in space, the vertical threads are in time. At every crossing of threads is an individual, and every individual is a crystal bead. The great light of Absolute Being illuminates and penetrates every crystal bead; but also every crystal bead reflects not only the light from every other crystal in the net-but also every reflection of every reflection throughout the universe.

Thus we learn that we live in all other beings, all other things - and that they live in us. Our lives are richer -- and more filled with obligations -- than we ever knew before.

Registration

The familiar ritual of registration contained a surprise for students this year. Instead of the traditional six classes, a seventh class with mandatory study hall was added to the class line-up.

Mrs. MacDonald was the secretary behind the scenes who tallied up the scores and introduced a grand total of 1585 students. Sophomores made up most of this figure registering 422 bodies, freshmen came next with 408 students and juniors were close on their tail with 406 members. Seniors clocked in 359, once again proving that the best doesn't have to be the biggest.

The new annual staff was united for the first time as they strove to sell the 1978-79 annuals and pass out the supplements from the previous year.

Registration also gave the many new teachers a chance to get acquainted with the student body.

Ken Swanson, Debbie Crick and Terry Braught examine last year's supplement.

The Annual Staff works hard during registration to sell annuals and hand out supplements.

Fall Play

With a stowaway named Chester, the cast and crew of the Fall Play, "H.M.S. Pinafore," made a successful voyage in the LUHS Auditorium November 16, 17 and 18.

"H.M.S. pinafore" was one hundred years old this year, (the play, not the ship!) and that was one of the main reasons that Director Mrs. Susan Hamer chose to produce it. With Captain Hamer at the helm and with the successful steering done by assistant director-navigator Kellie Hoffman, characters such as Sir Joseph Porter, First Lord of the Admiralty (Dave Farrington), Joesephine (Katie Mangan) and Ralph Rackstraw (Don Stewart) came to life and became entangled in a difficult love triangle and status quo problems (Lowly sailor falls in love with captain's daughter who is being forced to marry the Lord of the Admiralty, etc.). More romantic problems, too, involve poor Captain Corcoran (Jeren Rowell), who is in love with a poor peddler woman, Little Buttercup (Ruth Brazel). Class pride strikes again!

Music played an important part in "Pinafore." Jeren Rowell filled a newly added director's position as Student Musical Director. Mr. Pete Butler, Mr. Mel Knight and Mrs. Betty Mangan plus a few assorted band members combined their talents to make sailors like Dewey Frederick and Ross Scheuermann jig and sing (?) to, and for assorted "sisters, cousins and aunts" of Sir Porter's to sway and harmonize to.

Junior Miss

November 4, proved to be a magic night for many in Lebanon as the Annual Junior Miss Pageant was presented at the Lebanon Middle School Gym.

Eleven girls competed for the coveted honor including Kim Canaga, Kathy Carner, Chris Collier, Kerrie Cox, Debbie Crick, Laurie Evans, Bonnie Jarstad, Katie Mangan, Mandy McCloud, Shelly Ransford and Cherry Whited.

Girls were judged on poise and appearance, judges interview, talent and creativity and physical fitness and coordination.

Last year's Junior Miss, Debbie Nichols, was on hand and had the honor of crowning the 1978-79 winner, Cherry Whited. The "Spirit of Junior Miss" award, voted by all of the candidates was presented to Laurie Evans. Runners-up for the contest, who also received scholarship prizes, were Laurie Evans 2nd Runner-up and Kathy Carner 1st Runner-up.

Mike Anthony of KGAL was master of ceremonies for the pageant which was sponsored by area businesses.

Winter Formal

December sixteenth was a Winter Wonderland for many girls as they picked their favorite guy and attended the Winter Formal. "White Christmas" was the theme of the pageant which boasted six princesses from the Senior Class. Midway through the celebration, Queen Traci Klavano, escorted by Mike Potter, was crowned to reign over the festivities. Princess Jennifer Moseman, Escort Kevin Tucker; Princess Dixie Dirks, Escort Gil Hartl; Princess Triesa Zehner, Escort Jim Aho; Princess Laurie Evans, Escort Craig Carroll; Princess Shirley Ditterick and Escort Richard Alexy made up the rest of the court.

Music was provided by the rock group "Orange." The Winter Formal is a Senior Class sponsored event, and members of this group provided refreshments, decoration and fun for all who attended.

Winter Play

Dewey Frederick became alcoholic, Deanna Glaser went temporarily insane and Ruth Kerr's "mother" died. Why did these tragic changes overcome these and many other students of LUHS? Research into their after-school hours showed that these dedicated students were changing their personalities to get into their parts for the Winter Play, "The Drunkard."

"The Drunkard," directed by Mrs. Susan Hamer with student director, Susan Salisbury, got off to a late start when rain and snow plagued the first week of rehearsals. But with the help of a few weekend rehearsals and sincere cast members, lost time was made up, and the play opened on schedule, February 13th through the 15th.

First performed in 1844 to aid the temperance movement, "The Drunkard's" performance here at LUHS aided the students in furthering their theatrical experience. The play was presented in the same manner as an old-fashioned melodrama, complete with Can-Can girls and Vaudeville Comediennes. The play centered around a well respected citizen who is caught in the clutches of villainous Lawyer Cribbs. As a result of his decline, his beloved family becomes destitute. When it appears that all is lost, Arden Rencelaw, a kindly ex-alcoholic, restores the "drunkard" to his loveable and respectable self and paints a picture of harmonious family happiness in the ending scene.

The Drunkard (Dewey Frederick) calls on the strength of "Liquid Fire" in a weak moment.

The fiendish villian (Joe Smith) is rewarded by hisses and boos from the audience.

Innocent little Julia (Katie Mangan) blesses Arden Rencelaw for bringing her father out of his wretched state.

Mary (Ruth Kerr) finds her mother's death and the drunkenness of her husband Edward (Dewey Frederick) too much to handle while foster brother Bill (Jim Kerr) looks on.

Barkeeper Kent Zerkel pours another round for derelect Dewey.

Bill Downton (Tim Kerr) rejoices the restoration of his once-insane sister Agnes's (Deanna Glaser) senses.

Twirp Week

Sponsored by the Sophomore Class, Twirp Week contained few surprises but a lot of fun for both the twirpers and the twirpees.

Falling during the week of Valentine's Day, activities were appropriately concocted to follow the general theme.

Monday was Infant Day with competition being a tricycle race. Tuesday was Funky Shirt Day, and competition, for the brave, was three-legged race. Wednesday, Valentine's Day, was properly named Sweetheart Day. Girls brought their heroes submarine sandwiches and dressed in formal attire. Thursday was Red Day, and students had the opportunity of competing in a water balloon toss. Friday was slated as Dress-Alike Day and a Gong Show was hosted at noon.

A traditional event, Twirp Week, played a slight role reversal for girls and their guys.

Bob Waldron prepares to "eat the whole thing."

Jackie Bertalot times her hero in sandwich consumption.

Cindy Ransford and Tim Shanks enjoy their romantic lunch for two.

Is Robby Adams really avoiding his twirper by hiding behind Kathy Carner?

Lori Brown's spirit carries over even into Twirp Week.

Twirpers and their "twirpees" compete for the "best couple" award.

Spirit Week

Once again the Senior Class proved their might in Spirit Week competition. Juniors trailed the winners followed by the Sophomore and Freshman Classes.

The five day activity was divided so that each class could have a "day." On their "day" the class was responsible for rousing spirit and participation. Monday was dubbed Athletic Day by the Freshmen Class, Tuesday was Warrior Day by the Sophomore Class, Wednesday was Informal Day by the Juniors and Thursday was Formal Day by the Senior Class. The last day was designated 50's Day by the entire Student Body.

The Senior Class climaxed the week with a classical waltz competition during lunch. Band members, waiters and the "Lawrence Welk" effect helped to set the scene for the award-winning Senior Class.

The week ended with a Pep assembly introducing the new Royalty Court.

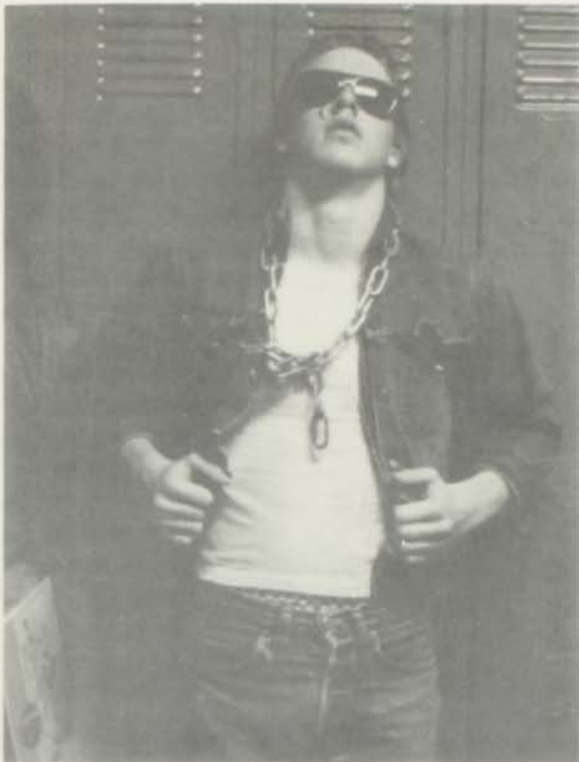

Laurie Evans droops from exhaustion from the 50's day activities.

Tim Shanks is the "leader of the pack" as the Junior class looks on.

Pep Assemblies

Mr. Jordan as King Nighty-Night, streakers, and class competition all became a part of that fun-filled forty-five minutes known as a Pep Assembly. Sponsored by the Varsity Cheerleaders, the assemblies were always a highlight for the week, pepping up crowds before the Friday home games.

Rally Queen Kathy Penfold did a fantastic job of leading the student body in new yells and creating enthusiasm among the ranks. Funny skits added luster as well as amusement to the assemblies.

Generally set up to honor a particular sport, some assemblies varied from the ordinary by presenting a candid look at college choirs, jazz bands or performing arts groups. Guest speakers and presentations were sometimes offered by classes to inform the Student Body of various happenings.

Pep, enthusiasm and information were the keywords behind Pep Assemblies.

Funky Friday

Funky Friday was the day set aside to be funky. Every event from Halloween to Easter was celebrated by dressing up in an appropriate manner. Randomly throughout the year, Fridays were assigned a particular kind of funk (such as Funky Hat Day, Funky Glasses Day, etc...), and the entire Student Body was invited to participate and show spirit for their class.

On special Fridays, judges were chosen to pick the best costumes. Participation was the key as students tried to out do each other in creating the funkier garb.

Student Government

There are three branches of Student Government -- I.A.C., the House of Representatives and the Senate.

The I.A.C. includes all club presidents. Jerry Dahlberg is president of I.A.C.. The I.A.C. representatives to Student Government are Warren Krager, Rick Pruitt and Sandy Wilson.

The House of Representatives is made up of all homeroom representatives. Katie Mangan, student body vice-president, is chairman of the House.

The Senate is the branch of Student Government that includes all elected officers. The elected leaders of the student body are Don Stewart, A.S.B. president; Katie Mangan, A.S.B. vice-president; Martha Potter, secretary, and Kathy Carner, treasurer.

Mr. Page is the advisor for the Student Government. Student Government meets once a month to discuss school problems and new ideas to improve the school.

Girls' State

"A whole week without boys" could have been the woeful exclamation from any one of the last year's Girls' Staters, Martha Potter, Kathy Carner, Kerrie Cox, Susan Salisbury, or Marilyn Dukes when they discovered that they were to represent Lebanon at Oregon's Girls' State.

Girls' State is a government training camp sponsored by the American Auxilliary for girls who have completed their junior year at high school. Participants attend a week-long session at Willamette University learning about state and local government.

Girls are divided into five countries and ten cities and are given the opportunity to become officials, have party conventions (Nationalists and Federalists) and vote in a state election (that is, if they've registered).

In addition to political proceedings each country was responsible for a flag ceremony, fashion show and part of a talent show.

With fifty girls to a floor, you soon learn a lot about friendship as well as how long you can stay in bed and still make it to one of the six showers before the other forty-nine girls!!

Kerrie Cox has other things on her mind besides thinking about bills.

Boys' State

Boys' State

Rod Soule shows the energy left in him at three in the morning during a Senate meeting.

Nine junior boys represented LUHS at American Legion Beaver Boys' State in June of 1978.

Those selected were Robbie Adams, Mike Potter, Rod Soule, Tom Barreto, Steve Cowgill, Ken McElhenney, Mike Joslin, Bill Bergstrom and Tim Shanks.

While on the Oregon College of Education campus in Monmouth, the boys played roles in a mock government representing Oregon's own form of government.

Every person participating at Boys' State were assigned to a city. Each city elected officials like mayor, city councilmen and even a chief of police.

Two cities make up a county. County officials were elected to help run the county. Also, Representatives and Senators were elected out of the county to serve in the state's Legislature.

Beaver Boys' State offered students the chance to meet many other people and to learn more about our system of government than any classroom can offer.

The Inter Activities Council, (I.A.C.) was a branch of Student Council made up entirely of club presidents. These presidents elected their own officers who attended House of Representatives and Senate meetings to share ideas and represent the network of clubs in school. Equally important were the meetings held for the benefit of all members to synchronize activities between all the clubs.

Jerry Dahlberg presided and coordinated meetings along with the combined efforts of Tom Barreto, vice-president; Jill Eiding, secretary; and I.A.C. Representatives, Warren Krager, Richard Pruitt and Sandy Wilson.

Guiding this group in their many activities and responsibilities was their advisor, Mr. Earl Gerfen.

SUPERINTENDENT

Enthusiastic...that's the new Superintendent Dr. Steven Wisely. Smiling with optimism, the new superintendent impressed the Student Body from the opening day of school.

Dr. Wisely is a native Oregonian, originally from Medford. He had spent the last few years in Washington before taking over the job from retiring Dr. Henderson.

His interest in the community, school and the students are very valuable to the people of Lebanon. Hardworking and understanding are two of the qualities that have made Dr. Wisely the fantastic person that he is. Not only is he a working man with a busy schedule, but he still finds time to spend with his family.

Dr. Steven Wisely busy at work in his office at Central Offices.

Dr. Wisely stops work for a couple seconds to flash his optimistic smile.

Mr. Erickson shows the photographer what to focus on.

Hiring new teachers, disciplining disruptive students, organizing school events and extracurricular activities are only a few of the many responsibilities that the administration faces every day.

The efficient staff of leaders consists of intelligent, well experienced men whose main goals are for the betterment of all the people involved with the school.

They maintain good public relations not only with the students but also with the public. One of the most important factors in running a smooth school year is that they always keep open minds and to listen to the various views of any who wishes to express themselves.

SCHOOL BOARD

Coordinating 1600 students and over 100 faculty members is no small job, therefore, the task is accomplished by a whole board of people. The School Board, composed of Ken Vorderstrasse, Chariman; Frances Christensen, Vice-chairman; and Harley Rex, Claude Swanson and Lew Shatz who are responsible for deciding on all matters and issues. This includes what's best for the school, the hiring of teachers and the petitions and problems presented by Student Government officials.

In addition to these members, representatives from the school, including Mr. Page, take part in decisions concerning the welfare of the school. The members of the board devote much time and energy in making the school an exceptional institution for learning.

SECRETARIES

Mrs. Ruth MacDonald, Mrs. Patricia Palmer, Mrs. Alice Young, Mrs. Betty Sanderson, Mrs. Esther Burrelle, Mrs. Gloria Huey, Mrs. Virginia Anderson, Mrs. Myrna Bennett.

Mrs. Cleora Wymore caught while catching up with the books.

The secretaries occupy their time by answering the phone, aiding numerous students and teachers, typing transcripts, typing absentee lists, sending out grades and helping with office procedures.

Each secretary has a specific area in which she works. Mrs. MacDonald works with the school register; Mrs. Burrelle and Mrs. Palmer work in the Guidance Department; Mrs. Anderson works in the Attendance Office.

In a new little room of her own, Mrs. Wymore can be found taking care of money and school records.

These secretaries all work very hard every day to keep the school records accurate and to keep the school running smoothly.

INSTRUCTIONAL

RESOURCES

Mrs. Shirley Kunders, Mr. Ash J. Leppink, Mr. Don Erickson, Mrs. Ester Williams and Mrs. Mary Sitsler.

A new study aid was introduced into the library this year. It was called "quietness."

In order that students could really benefit from the time they spent in the Instructional Resource Center, gabbing and gossip was kept to a minimum by a strict enforcement program consisting of "Useless Chatter: Out you go." The atmosphere prompted more serious student learning activities.

The library, aside from invoices of books, included a newly formed career center. Its purpose was to help students find careers through informative pamphlets and learning exercises like the Needle Sort Test.

Angela Barnes wears her thinking cap.

TEACHER
AIDS

Mrs. Annette Greenfield and Mrs. Bess Anderson.

Relatively new to the teaching field at Lebanon High School, teacher aids provided assistance to a number of teachers in their preparation for classroom activities. The aides, Mrs. Annette Greenfield and Mrs. Bess Anderson enjoy many jobs, primarily typing, filing and paper correcting. However, emergency work seemed to be their specialty during a majority of the year.

A casual passerby in the local library where their working area is located, might not understand the complexity of conversation such as, "Have you collected Mr. Burtner yet?" "I am going to thermofax Mr. Haglund." or "I just ran off Mr. Castle!" But, whatever the meaning, the teacher aids were a positive influence on the school.

Mrs. Greenfield doing part of her everyday tasks.

GUIDANCE

Guiding students to happier educational experience was the role played by the Guidance Department. Juggling schedules, counseling personal problems, finding jobs and assisting in career, scholarship and financial aid choices were only the tip of the counselors' iceberg.

Mr. Gene Eakin headed the group which consisted of Mr. Don Carroll, Mr. Dennis Crowell, Mrs. Louise Street, Mr. David Dufault, Mrs. Maureen Liles, Mr. Roy Humphrey, Mr. Del Metcalf and Mrs. Carolyn Atkins. Mrs. Esther Burrelle, Mrs. Patti Palmer and Mrs. Jerrienne Stolsig provided extra help where needed.

All involved in the counseling area strove to improve relations between students, teachers and faculty as well as to accomplish their many other duties.

Mr. McNeil relaxing after a long day.

E.L.P. is the new name for this department. E.L.P. represents "Exceptional Learning Problems." In this department students are dealt with on a one to one basis. They are encouraged and are able to work at their own rates. The course is designed to fit the needs of the individual whether his is having comprehension problems in Social Studies, Language Arts or any other subject.

The course started out by being taught by Mrs. Karen Steadmen and Mr. John McNeil. Then, Mrs. Steadmen resigned and was replaced by Mrs. Susan Stumbaugh. Both Mr. McNeil and Mrs. Stumbaugh are highly competent in this field and are interested in the students as individuals.

Mrs. Susan Stumbaugh smiles to keep her spirits up on a tough new job.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

Linda Bart, Vie Carruth and Nancy Thomas get things organized before school starts.

This year, the high school underwent some expansion with the addition of some new modular classrooms behind the English wing. One of these rooms serves a unique but important purpose. Equipped with sinks, work tables and lots of space, this room provides a "home base" for the Special Education Students who transferred here last fall from McDowell Creek School. The process is called "Mainstreaming," and what it really means is getting these special students involved in high school life.

Vie Carruth, Nancy Thomas and Linda Bart, the teachers of these special students, along with several student aids, work with the students and help them in anyway they can. The students are instructed on an individual basis but also participate in group projects, practicing skills that are worthwhile and rewarding.

Tina Walters is pleased with school at the moment.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

Larry Middlestadt spots a new student in the class.

Kevin Miller would rather be playing basketball than doing his classwork.

Bruce Knutson and Paul Cline break from their studies.

BUSINESS

Marketing, stenographic procedures, accounting, typing, shorthand, briefhand, and office procedures are a few of the classes offered through the Business Department.

Other skills, such as self discipline, leadership and the understanding of business techniques are the results of many strenuous hours of practice that goes into a business course.

The Business Department is also responsible for sponsoring two of the most active clubs in the school, D.E.C.A. and F.B.L.A..

Mrs. Phyllis Osborn, department head, spends many extra hours working to make sure that the Business Department is kept running smoothly.

On the job training is an experience where students are able to participate, to prepare them for a business career. O.J.T. is a must for all students interested in a career in business.

Tami Grove finishes early and compares her typing assignment with the nearest student.

Mr. George Geiszler, Mrs. Phyllis Osborn, Mr. Jim Becker, Mr. Duane Hartman and Mr. Floyd Simpson.

Mr. Poole replies with a "What can I say?"

Add one woman math teacher, eight men math teachers, and one Math Department head, and what do you get? A terrific math staff.

The Math Department has many fields that a math-interested student may choose from. It varies anywhere from individual basic math to highly intellectual computer science. Subjects in between consist of Algebra I and II, Trigonometry, Geometry, Consumer Research and General Math.

Math may sound very unappealing to the average person, but it is very essential in everyday life.

Sitting: Mr. William Machamer, Mrs. Cheryl McAllister, Mr. Richard Weisbrodt. Standing: Mr. Steven Poole, Mr. Donald Shannon, Mr. Ron Easton, Mr. Leroy Fritz, Mr. Dennis Olafson and Mr. Floyd Holcombe.

Space Cadets? No, just the Lebanon Union High School's mad scientists. You can always find them looking for parameciums under a microscope, testing chemical reactions or experimenting to prove a hypothesis.

Whatever the case may be, you can be sure that the students are learning by actually seeing the results.

The department is kept going by Mr. Ron Olgesby, the department head. Chemistry, biology, physics and other courses such as I.P.S. for freshmen and certain required classes are offered in the science program.

The Science Department sponsors the Jets and Biology Club. Working together with a lab partner, or "on your own," many interesting discoveries are found everyday.

Mr. Brown explains a theory to two of his Biology students.

Under the well directed and carefully strategy of Chuckie the Charger, (Mr. Kilborn), the Language Arts team consisting of all the Language Arts teachers, powered to the victory in teaching such subjects as Humanities, German, Spanish, Communication Skills, Hi-Lite, and Annual.

Many other classes such as creative writing, novel, poetry, fiction, non-fiction and drama were offered. Many of them were taught by new additions to the staff.

Humanities as usual had a great year, starting it all off with HUMAN-O-GRAMS. Also classroom competition was a success along with the many other activities.

BAND

"Band on the Run" might be an appropriate phrase describing the Band Department. Directed by Mel Knight, this year's band members were constantly on the go preparing for various trips, festivals and performances as well as carrying out their regular duties.

Advanced Band performed in parades around the district and at half-time for some football games. Pep Band raised enthusiasm at Pep Assemblies and basketball games. Stage Band, Jazz Ensemble and Concert Band contributed heavily to the success of the many concerts and performances put on for the school and community by the music department.

A highlight of the year was a trip to Reno by Jazz Ensemble. Many hours were spent in money making, and paper collecting "paid-off" in a wonderful performance at the music festival.

David Cooke blows it like it is during a concert.

CHOR

The Choir, headed by Mr. Pete Butler, sang their way through performance after performance of superbly executed songs in an effort to bring harmony and melody to the halls of LUHS.

Comprised of four main elements: Choir Ensemble, Crescendos, Mixed Choir, and Girls' Glee, the entire department harmonized to form an artistic channel for Lebanon students to pour out their hearts and voices in song.

Springtime blooms had the members thinking suntan and leis as the Choir Ensemble journeyed to Hawaii for an Invitational Choir Festival. Money making activities throughout the year enabled this elite group to travel to this far corner of the world spreading songs of joy from Lebanon.

Donny Stewart and Katie Mangan finish reading the latest Mad Magazine before performing with the Crescendos.

All of the members of the Mixed Choir are amazed by Mr. Butler's attire.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Social Studies department was unique in both teaching skills and manners. Guided by the steady hand of Mr. Joe Helberg, department head, the crew of Mr. Douglas Axen, Mr. Dean Castle, Mr. Bill Croco, Mr. Rick Gould, Mr. Rick Hennessy, Mr. Dan Phelps, Mr. Richard Walker and Ms. Penny Van OurKirk journeyed through a wave of students and attempted to develop in them the knowledge, skills and attitudes necessary to function as a citizen, consumer and family member.

Subject matter ranged from studies of Federal Constitution, State and Local Government, Consumer Education, Early and Modern Warfare and Weaponery to History of the West.

Special activities arranged by the various teachers included field trips, group discussions and special interest projects with an added treat of simulation role playing. In this scheme, students were given the opportunity to act out the responsibilities and decisions which need to be made by congressmen, officials or famous people in the annals of history.

Express yourself. This is what the Fine Arts Department stresses by either art or music. Both require a natural talent in the field.

Many band and choral music classes are offered at LUHS, ranging from Girls' Glee to Pep Band to "Jazz" Ensemble. Mr. Pete Butler and Mr. Mel Knight head the department and put on many concerts throughout the year.

Design to leathercrafts and textiles to graphic communications are just a few of the many art classes offered. Mrs. Andrea Arlington, Miss Paula Costello and department head, Mr. Jim Barrett, together make up the Art Department.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Healthy minds and bodies were built in more than twelve ways through the efforts of the Health Department this year. Department head Gloria Knapp, Chuck Haglund, Jim Phillips and Rus Bemis taught preventive health education to freshmen and juniors through interesting programs and a number of audio visual aides.

Mental Health, Personal Improvement, Drugs and First Aid were only a few of the subjects studied to improve general health education in students and health awareness. Many special attractions were contained in the "Pandora's Box" of the Health Department. Included in these were the Blind Walk for the special child unit, guest speakers and the many different types of review games utilized to go over information.

Mr. Bemis demonstrates a touch of "class".

HOME ECONOMICS

Mrs. Ruth Looney, Ms. Mary Vorpahl and Mrs. Linda Lunceford.

The Home Economics Department went through a major overhaul this year with the addition of several new buildings. The expanded classroom area helped make it possible to offer a variety of courses for all students.

Students interested in the homemaking had the option of choosing classes in buying or preparing food, selecting and sewing clothes, choosing and caring for a house and learning various crafts. Special classes were also given on development and care of young children and a food services class for students interested in pursuing a career in the Food Service Industries.

Miss Mary Vorpahl, Mrs. Linda Lunceford, Mrs. Ruth Looney and half time aid Jenny Norton made learning fun as they helped plan desserts and dinners for parents and friends, and field trips to areas pertaining to food services.

"He wants me to taste it?" exclaims Mrs. Lunceford, about something Ken Swanson has conjured up.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Education includes not only the mind but the body. Stressing a healthy body through maintenance of the body as a result of activity and exposing the students to lifelong recreational activities are only two of the objectives exemplified throughout the year by the Physical Education Department.

Department head Mr. Dan Jordan assisted by Mr. Gary Yates, Mr. Jim Phillips, Miss Jan Dauenhauer and Miss Peg Rees devised ways of making students jump, run and otherwise activate with Miss Marianne Berry encouraging activity in the pool.

Adding to standard basketball, soccer, flashball and weight-training, were perhaps more interesting courses of Archery, Bowling, Life Saving and Ping-pong to make class more fun for the average Physical Education student. Smaller classes were an added attraction of the P.E. Department.

The Vocational Education Department, headed by Mr. Robert Hodson, is basically designed to prepare students for various occupations. Six main areas are included in this department. They are metal shop, wood shop, agriculture, drafting, electricity and shop maintenance.

Building a house, working at the land lab, making useful tools and wood products and drawing up blue prints for homes are just a few of the activities involving vocational students.

Six new staff members were added this year.

The Vocational Education Department sponsors two national organizations — Future Farmers of America and V.I.C.A. (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America).

All vocational classes are open to both boys and girls.

DRIVERS

Mr. John Dixon chuckles at the thought of the long and short of Drivers' Ed.

EDUCATION

Teaching students to hit pedestrians, run stop signs or collect traffic tickets for scrapbooks were definitely not objectives of the Lebanon High Drivers' Education teachers. Together, Mr. Dave Winters, Mr. Dean Soule and Mr. John Dixon patiently instructed students who didn't know the brake from the clutch.

Each day of driving usually left Mr. Dixon with an upset stomach - the result of letting the clutch out too fast. And Mr. Winters found that Fords don't offer the extra leg space that United Airlines brags about but Mr. Soule had to put up with the complaints of both his associates.

The course proves to have substantial importance. Lowering insurance rates and preparing the student for his driver's license are just two of the values gained from this program.

Mr. John Dixon laughs off the perils of student drivers.

Gladene Davis was a new addition to the kitchen staff.

Working hard to prepare lunch for the many hungry students is an every day occurrence in the kitchen. Yet, even though they work hard, they really seem to enjoy themselves. At anytime you may drop by and either hear the pounding of pots and pans, the tale end of some wise crack or even shistling while they work.

The kitchen staff is definitely an asset to our school.

CUSTODIANS

Have you ever wondered who the busy people with carts, portable trash cans and wide mop-brooms are? Well, they are the custodians who constantly clean, fix broken parts and sweep floors.

The laundry unit is also an important part of the custodial department. Betty Rye the laundress, is assisted by a few Special Ed. students who come in and help out.

Our custodial crew is part of the pride we have built up in our school. Jim Williams is supervisor of the custodial crew and has really got a crew to be proud of.

The maintenance crew, headed by Mr. Jim Gillispie, has worked on a variety of projects over the year. They have worked on the Metal Shop, the addition to the Home Economics room, the Student Center, the new modular units and many other important jobs.

BUS DRIVERS

Bob Carlson - transportation supervisor, Lee Edwards, Linda Branton, Fern Cantrall, Carol Linquist, Josephine Liming, Lena Brust, Donna Bartley, Leona Roberts.

A first time addition to the annual is...the busdrivers, very large staff consisting of both patient and skilled men and women.

After a long bus run of over exuberant students, many of them like to just set back and relax at the Central Offices where their headquarters is located. But, many of them hurry home to relax, and reminisce about their very trying hours of cruising around the country in a big noisy yellow box.

We would really like to draw attention to the busdrivers because they have had patience with the music on the buses, been willing to drive to extra-curricular activities and have served us well over the years.

Cheerleaders

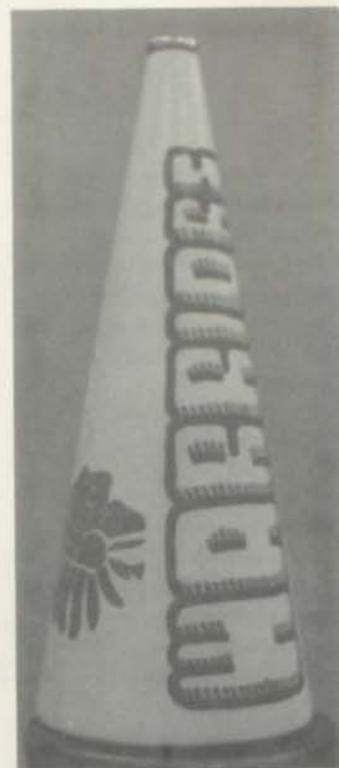

Standing behind all athletic teams this year was a group of highly spirited young ladies encouraging school participation and enthusiasm. The Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Freshman Rally Squads passed out favors, attended award banquets honoring athletes and sponsored Pep Assemblies in addition to their regular duties.

Summer clinic brought several honors to squads as they prepared for the regular sports seasons. Varsity Cheerleaders brought home a trophy, a spirit stick, and excellent and superior ribbons from a week-long camp held at Lewis and Clark College. Junior Varsity Cheerleaders also attended a day clinic held at the University of Oregon.

All Rally squads were under the care and guidance of Mrs. Patsy Smith.

Though the Warriors finished the season at 2-7, good for eighth place in the Valley League, there were some bright spots.

The Warriors won their first game on Homecoming Night over a good McNary squad. They were also impressive against Corvallis, limiting the number one Spartans to a 7-0 lead at half. The Warriors tired out in the end, losing 21-0. The most exciting game of the season was the South Albany contest where the gridders pulled from behind to defeat the Rebels, 27-21.

This year's squad was represented by Mel Walters, first team punter, and second team members Jorge Santana, center, and Bob Jackola, defensive lineman, as all-league selections.

Many of the players from this year's 3-4 record J.V. team gained valuable playing time up on varsity. This experience could prove helpful next year. Adding to the list of graduation losses are head coach Gary Yates and coach Dean Castle, who announced their resignations at the end of the season.

The Freshman Football team, coached by first year coach Bob Doltar, finished the season with a respectable 3-3 record.

The young gridders were little in numbers but a strong competitive team. Many of the team members also gained valuable playing time on the J.V. team due to injuries and filled in quite well. Quarterback Cory Carroll started a few J.V. games and is going to help plenty in a year or two as is Scott Dufault a big running back. Other key players were Tom Hanten and Scott Pruett.

Although no awards were given, Coach Doltar said "Tom Hanten would have probably been Most Improved and the Most Valuable would have been Pruett, Dufault, Carroll or Hanten".

Many of the young Warriors can look to play a lot of J.V. ball next year, and some will find themselves on the varsity squad. Look out for this squad to have a good team in two or three years.

This year's Cross Country team, led by third year coach Martin Dannen and assistant Dennis Olafson, cruised through this season with varied success.

The boys' squad led by junior Mike Riley was a largely young and inexperienced team. They compiled a 1-9 record and placed 8th at the district meet. Riley was the top district placer for Lebanon coming in 17th.

The girls' team was led by senior Debbie Prince. They finished the season with a 5-5 record and placed 5th at district. Prince was the top district finisher for the girls, coming in 10th place.

At the Award's Banquet, Mike Riley and Debbie Prince were awarded the Most Valuable Runner Awards for their squads. Most Improved Runners for this year's team were freshman Gene Bunting for the boys and sophomore Debbie Matz for the girls.

Lebanon's Boys' Gymnastic team finished the season at a successful 4-3 mark under first-year coach Dave Troutman who stated, "I was very pleased with the team and their performance."

Seniors Mike Potter and Jay Earlywine on the Pommel Horse, junior Andy Garboden in the Vault and High Bars and junior Cliff Palmer on the Floor Exercise all finished in the top six in district to earn a trip to the State Meet. Potter was the only one to make it into finals coming away with a fifth place finish.

Girls' Gymnastics

Behind the leadership of seniors Martha Potter and Jennifer Moseman, who served as captain and co-captain respectively, the Girls' Gymnastics team had a very successful season.

First year coach Linda Garcia guided her team to 3rd place at District behind the talents of Moseman and Potter, and juniors Tricia Morris and Patty Palmer.

Morris was the sixth best in state in three events - all-around, balance beam, and vault. Moseman took eleventh on the beam and twenty-third on the vault.

Honors were given to Jennifer Moseman as Most Inspirational, and to Tracy Berg and Barb Alexy as Most Improved.

Varsity Volleyball

Records don't always indicate the talent of a team as was apparent of this year's Varsity Volleyball squad. Although the girls had an 11-12 record overall, and a 7-9 league record, they missed going to the League playoffs by only one game.

Coach Peg Rees had two Valley League selections in Tracy Knight, 1st team, and Traci Klavano, 2nd team. Knight and Klavano were the only two seniors on the team and also served as Co-captains.

Awards were given to Klavano, Most Valuable Player; Lori Brown, Most Inspirational; and Judy George, Most Improved.

J. V. Volleyball

Under the tutoring of first-year Coach Clark Brean, the J.V. team gained valuable experience and learned the basic skills and moves that will be an asset when they make the step up to the varsity level of competition.

The team was lead by co-captains Julie Hinrichs and Diane Langley. The young squad finished with an 8-10 overall record and a 6-10 league record.

Lisa Bradley was voted Most Improved, Becky Castle - Most Inspirational, and Julie Hinrichs was honored as the Most Valuable Player.

Girls' Varsity Basketball

Front: Shelly Coleman, Julie Hinrichs, Renee Campbell, Judy Chewning. Back: Coach Chuck Haglund, Sherry Shriver, Lori Walter, Wendie Legee, Becky Castle, Keri Anderson, Debbie Prince, Molly Bellinger.

The Lebanon Girls' Varsity Basketball Team lost a couple of close games which could have made the difference between a good season and a mediocre one. The girls finished with an 8-12 overall record and a 6-10 league mark.

"We were in the playoff picture until the last few games. We lost to North Salem, Corvallis and Sprague and that's what hurt us," stated third year Head Coach Chuck Haglund.

Once again the girls were lead by All-Leaguer Debbie Prince who was the leading scorer and second leading rebounder. Junior Keri Anderson was the leading rebounder and helped out with the scoring load. Becky Castle provided a lot of board strength.

"Next year they should have a pretty good team because everybody will be back except for Prince," predicted Haglund who is going to leave a big vacancy to fill with his departure from the coaching ranks. "I'm going to miss coaching," he added.

The Girls J. V. Basketball team was plagued by numerous injuries and had a rather disappointing season, finishing with an overall record of 5-10. Wink Zimmick, Linda Crick and Becky Moseley all missed part of the season due to injuries which hampered the team's success.

"Wink was a valuable player," stated first year Head Coach Donna Crawford. Tracy Berg was selected as the team's MVP while Linda Crick was the top rebounder. "There will probably be a couple of players who will move up to varsity and help out the team," Crawford predicted.

Joan Chewning goes for two while Darcy Krieger, Linda Crick and Linda Drew cheer her on.

"What do I do now?" wonders a stymied Debbie Weisbrodt.

An impressive 9-4 league record was achieved by the Freshman Girls' Basketball team under the guidance of first-year coach Bob Doltar. Through hard work and discipline, the girls learned what winning is all about.

The young squad should be a strong base for the varsity level in years to come. "Many will be playing varsity for the next three years," commented coach Doltar.

This year's very balanced team contained some outstanding individuals. Playing excellent defense was Debbie Weisbrodt, Sherry Dunmeyer, Kathy O'Driscoll, Karen Hoelsing, Lori Nonemaker and Mari Dodge all came in as high scorers and went out with high hopes for next year. Hoelsing and Nonemaker took care of the boards as the core of the frosh girls' rebounding department.

Coach Jordan gives last-second instructions to his troops.

Trying for a repeat of last year's State Tournament appearance was a goal this year's Varsity Basketball team didn't meet. The Warriors ended in a three-way tie for fifth place which eliminated them from the playoffs. The team finished 7-9 in league and 10-12 overall.

The team got off to a good start going 3-1 before falling to 4-4. The first four defeats were by a total of 10 points. To make the playoffs, the Warriors needed to win their last two games of the season against Sprague and North Salem. But a 61-55 setback at the hands of the Olys ended any playoff hopes.

Awards went to Dave Stewart for Most Inspirational and Best Defense. Roger Hutley and Kevin Suing tied for assists, and Mark Neustal took the M.V.P. trophy for the second year in a row. Dave Albion earned honorable mention All-Valley League while Neustal was a unanimous pick on the First Team as he lead the league in scoring and broke three school records - rebound career, 622, rebounds season, 283 and most points in a single game, 44.

With three juniors who all started at one time or another returning and a very good group of underclassmen, it looks like "Warrior Mania" will continue at LUHS.

Junior Varsity Basketball

Kneeling: Coach Jerry Cash. Back: Jon Anderson, Tony Troyer, John Ballard, Tony Evans, Rob Pepperling, Scott Jantzi, Todd Tjepkema, Kylor Whittacker, Rod Halsey, Scott Henderson.

The J.V. Basketball Team found the road a little rocky this year as they compiled a 2-20 season record. It was a frustrating year for the squad.

One area the team was hurting in was experience. Six underclassmen were on the J.V. roster. Although the season wasn't successful if you go by the win-loss column, positive things were accomplished. The team learned the fast paced, fastbreak type of offense that will help them when they make the step up to varsity.

If the J.V. squad works hard and the underclassmen dedicate themselves, the Warrior basketball program looks to be strong in the future.

Front: Jim Hendricks, Mike Little, Jim Skeele, Ron Denny. Back: Coach Roy Humphrey, David Cooke, Curtis Shephard, Jon Wittrock, Lonnie Christy.

This year's sophomore team compiled a 3-19 record under first year Sophomore Coach Roy Humphrey.

Humphrey, who coached last year's Freshman A team, despite the record, was pleased with his team's efforts, especially after considering the fact that two of his better players were moved up to J.V. midway through the year.

"Our kids went out and competed well and worked hard all year long which was very pleasing," commented Humphrey.

David Cooke lead the way in scoring for the sophomores while being named the team's Most Valuable Player. Jon Wittrock took the Most Improved Award, along with leading the team in rebounding and field goal percentage.

Humphrey looks for this squad to be awfully tough when they are seniors.

Ron Denny prepares to inbound the ball.

Freshman Basketball

Brad Bauer does an "in your face."

Under first year Coach Dave Winters the Freshman "A" team finished with a 7-11 record.

"Considering the talent we had, I feel we could have done better. It's a real good crew, and they are going to develop into a good team," Winters stated.

Winning awards for the freshmen were Aaron Bilyeu, Most Valuable Player; John Elston, Most Improved Player; and Mike Campbell, Best Defensive Player.

The "B" team also had a new coach in Dwayne Kronser. His team finished the year with a 3-7 record and got strong performances from Greg Bumpus, Sandy Saunders and Shawn Olson who was also named the team's MVP.

Varsity Wrestling

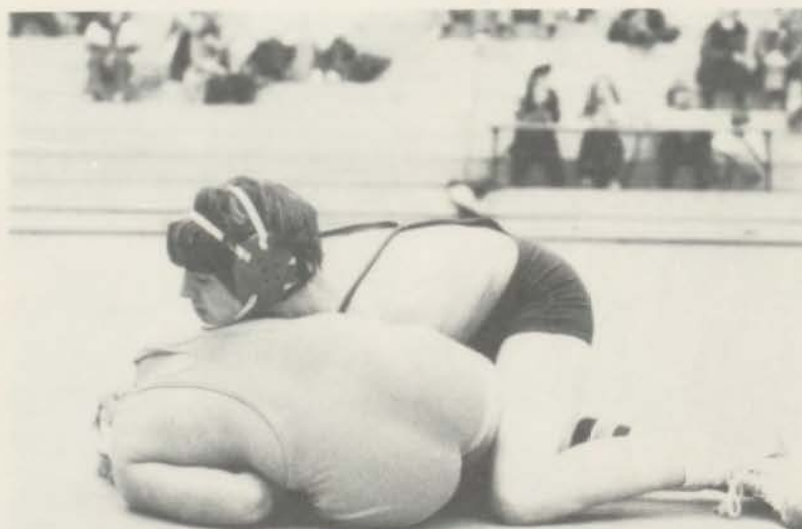

Manager John Barnes, Tony Hugley, Dave Coleman, Steve West, Scott Pruett, Fred Bowman, Greg Atkinson, Jimmy Glasser, Mitch Johnson.

After 22 years Dick Weisbrodt bowed out as Head Wrestling Coach with a very successful wrestling campaign. The grapplers finished with only one loss in league a narrow decision to North Salem.

The Warrior wrestlers finished second in the district tournament with both Steve Weisbrodt and Scott Pulliam gaining district titles. Weisbrodt went on to finish fifth in State while Pulliam who should have finished in the top five, was injured and garnered sixth place. Jim Glasser, Roy Erdwins, and Richard Henderson all earned trips to State.

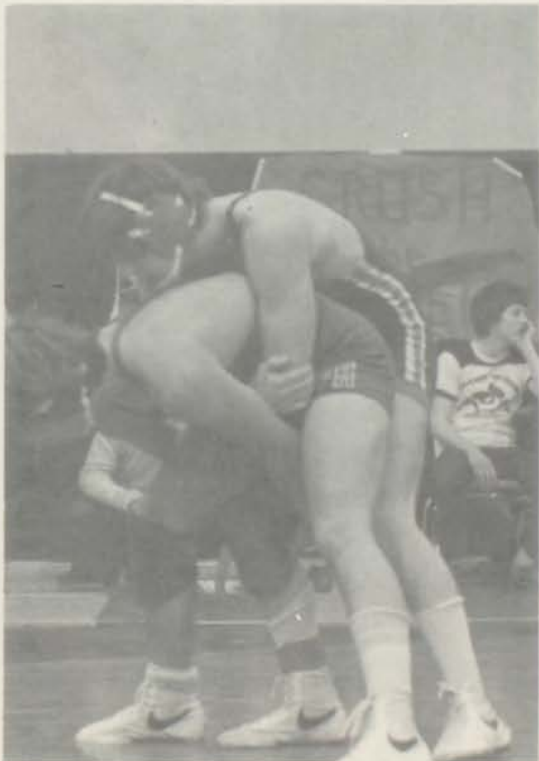

Weisbrodt ends his coaching career at LUHS with impressive stats. His overall record is 287-144-1 for a 66 percent win mark. His squads won seven first places and eleven seconds at District. Nine teams under Weisbrodt the team finished fifth or better at the State meet. Two squads, one in 1962-63 and another in 1967-68, won the State title. Although Weisbrodt is leaving as the Head Wrestling coach, he will stay in athletics, replacing Bud Moynihan who is retiring as AD from LUHS.

Freshman Scott Dufault had numerous victories for the Varsity squad.

J. V. Wrestling

The Junior Varsity Wrestling program carried on the tradition of success this year going 8-0 in league.

They were a young and inexperienced group but competed extremely well. Mr. Weisbrodt and his staff could always count on a super effort from his impressive second squad.

He often used the J. V. kids at the Varsity level when someone was hurt or he felt here would be an advantage gained. The wrestlers always came up and gave a good showing.

When asked to single out one or two individuals, Mr. Weisbrodt stated that everyone gave strong performances throughout the year.

With these young men coming up to varsity next year, the Lebanon wrestling program should be strong once again.

Roger Cox is congratulated by his teammates after a victory.

Freshman Wrestling

Back: Kevin Miller, Jay Johnson, John Schaffner, Raiph Beasley. Front: Dave Rowe, Tim Primasing, Fred Clark.

First year Frosh Coach Russ Beemis guided his troops to an impressive 9-1 record. It could have been an undefeated season for the freshmen had they not lost their final meet to West Albany by a scant six points. "They should be pretty tough," summarized Coach Beemis on his freshmen when they become seniors in a few years.

Ernie French and John Schaffner were two impressive wrestlers. French compiled a 9-1 mark and is "a really hard worker," stated Beemis. Schaffner earned the nickname of "Mr. Pin." He won a total of 11 matches, 10 by pins.

This year's Frosh Squad kept up the winning wrestling tradition at LUHS and should greatly help out the J. V. and Varsity squads in future years.

Front: Marisol Santana, Cathy Yeack, Tina Jensen. Back: Holly Hanson, Sonja Barrett, Tina Detweiler, Desiree Weathers.

Swimming

The Girls' and Boys' Swimming teams both enjoyed very successful seasons for first year Coach Rick Gould. The Girl tankers finished up with a 9-1 record that earned them a second place finish in league while the boys ended the season at 6-4 and a third place finish.

Both teams fared well at district competition, sending four girls and two boys on to State competition. Individuals for the girls' team were Annette George, 12th in 100-yd breast stroke; Margaret Wetherall, 13th in 200 freestyle and Judy George, and Valerie Meador. The four girls combined their talents to finish eighth in the 200-yard medley.

Boy performers were Mark McAllister, 12th in the 100-yard backstroke, and Jeff Griffith, 13th in 100-yard breast stroke and 16th in the 100 fly.

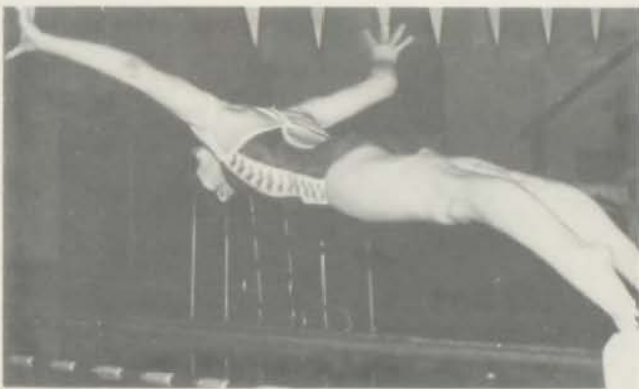

Jeff Griffith shows proficiency in the butterfly.

Mark McAllister folds into starting position.

Rhonda Hutley takes the Nestea plunge.

Margaret Wetherall leaps into the wide blue yonder.

After a tough race Nathan Zerkel takes a breather.

Diving

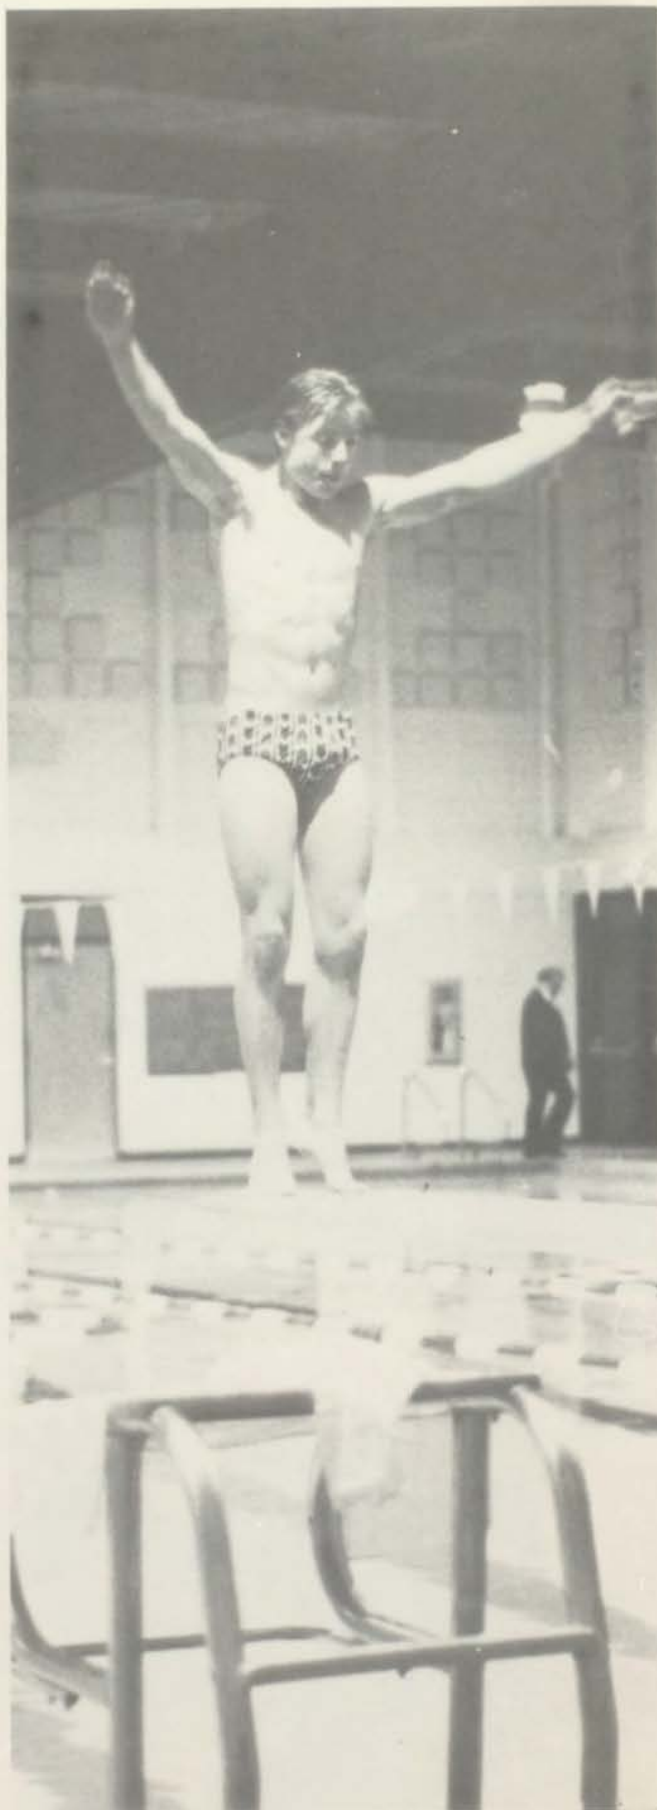

Front: Stephanie Neustel, Joe McGuire, Coach Rick Gould.
Center: Trish Morris. Back: Andy Garboden, Cliff Palmer.

Though small in numbers, the 1978-79 Diving team proved they were more than enough to handle competitors from around the valley. Stephanie Neustel, Tricia Morris, Cliff Palmer, Joe McGuire and Andy Garboden, captured the honors off the board by combining physical skill, creativity and general bravery.

Highlighting the season were performances by Tricia Morris and Andy Garboden. Each took top spots at the District meet held at South Albany High School, and they traveled to the State Meet at Mount Hood Community College. Tricia improved on last year's fifth place by taking fourth place honors while Andy finished in eleventh place at the two-day event.

The diver's were coached by first year coach Mr. Rick Gould.

Andy Garboden concentrates on his next dive.

Trish Morris, 4th place state finisher, practices her diving form.

Cliff Palmer goes into his triple-flip, $\frac{3}{4}$ turn, full twist dive.

Stephanie Neustel makes a clean entry into the water.

Honor Society

An elite group of students maintaining a 3.5 grade point average or better made up of Honor Society. Pledged to promote good citizenship and scholastic achievement, the members of Honor Society took pride in their high academic standards.

Leading the group of scholars was an equally outstanding committee of students. Mike Potter ably presided over group meetings; Steve Cowgil was second in command; Tracy Knight provided written records and Traci Klavano guarded monetary transactions. Mr. Reynolds was behind the scenes as activities coordinator and advisor.

When they weren't studying, Honor Society members participated in a variety of activities which included the traditional Student Center clean-up, bake sales, serving at banquets, ushering at commencement and baccalureate and sponsoring the Upper Ten Percent Dessert for students and their parents.

Photo Club

Keeping people in the dark seemed to be one of the pre-requisites of being in Photo Club. A newly formed club this year, the Warrior Photographers met every first and third Thursdays in an attempt to develop and promote an interest in photography. Both aesthetic and technical know-how were stressed.

Enlarging the club with needed advice was their Advisor Mr. Don Erickson. Capable leadership was provided by President Tom Barreto, Vice-president Rod Soule and Secretary/Treasurer Ginger Coakley.

Activities during the year included providing photographic coverage of important events for the school. They were a service to clubs and organizations by photographing couples at the Winter Formal and by selling photo buttons during the Spring Fling.

Drama Club

The women's liberation movement struck The LUHS Drama Club this year leaving all of the officers female. After all, who else would bake the cookies? The head bakers were Marie Lee, president; Julie Geil, vice-president; Susan Salisbury, secretary; Kerrie Cox, treasurer and Becky Yahnke, historian.

Aside from bake sales, the Drama Club organized a lot of activities that were fewer in calories and that satisfied more than just hunger pangs. For example, Drama Club members sixteen years of age or older make an annual trip to Shriner's Hospital in Portland. And the LUHS Drama Department sponsors a trip to New York each year around Christmas time. This year they added a trip to England which included a stay on the famous Stratford on Avon, home of Shakespeare and Shakespearean Theater.

In addition to belonging to Drama Club, involved members could earn points toward becoming a National Thespian by working on plays and faithfully attending meetings. National Thespians is a national theater organization.

DECA

Teresa Duerr zeros in on the concept of the meeting.

Distributive Education Club of America helped students gain experience in business management and taught them the importance of business in American society.

Distributing leadership in the form of good words and encouragement was President Ellan Beach, Vice-president Velvet Grissom, Secretary Cheryl Schumacher, Treasurer Gary Speas, Parliamentarian Rhonda Brown and Publicity Director Phillip Garcia. Advisor of this group of financial-minded students was marketing teacher Mr. Geiszler.

Helping in the learning process by participating in buy-sell relationships was a major undertaking by this club who sold candy, gum and other foods before school and at noon.

Service was also stressed at the monthly meetings, and DECA never failed to heed that call. Money-making projects for charity were a common cause which involved all members. As an added bonus, club members were encouraged to create better understandings between employer and employees at a dessert held for their benefit.

Front: Gwynne Tyree, Phillip Garcia, Lisa Boyer, Tracy Barber, Loda Winningham. Back: Sandi Yocom, Tammie Pound, Chris Collier, Diana Klink, Laurie Rutherford, Denise Svatos, Yvonne Schmid, Sandi Langmade, Mike Swezey, Advisor Mr. Geiszler.

FBLA

FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) spent most of this year building future business leaders in America. Under corporation head Laurie Evans and with the backing of Vice-president Jill Hackstedt, Secretary Mandy McCloud, Treasurer Dana Wimer, Historian June Aho and Reporter Cheryl Coffey, the second Tuesday of every month was filled with activity.

FBLA members try to involve themselves in at least one social service and fundraising activity each month. Besides building a float for Veterans' Day (it was sponsored by Willamette Industries), some of their activities included attending conferences and contests throughout the state, selling Val-O-Grams, having bake sales, cleaning the Student Center and sponsoring an all-school dance.

In addition, FBLA members "adopted" a senior citizen, Sally Presley. Visits were made each month and special celebrations were given on occasions such as Christmas and on her birthday.

FHA

"Happy homes make happy hearts" as Lebanon Chapter of Future Homemakers of America are quick to point out. By helping youth assume their roles in society through Home Economics education in areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation and community involvement, this club provides a needed service for the school.

Under the "helping hand" of Mrs. Mary Vorpahl and with chief-cook-and-bottle-washers President Sherrie Schamp, Secretary Kristi Adams and Treasurer Connie Wilson, the club was kept busy with District and State FHA meetings, a Halloween party, Christmas shopping spree, exchanges and a raffle.

New members were always welcome to join in the fun and participate in Wednesday noon meetings.

Future Farmers of America

Future Farmers of America is a national organization built around agricultural activities. The organization is open to any students involved in a vocational class. Advisors are Mr. Neill and Mr. Clingenpeel.

Much experience is gained through the activities at the Land Lab located a few miles out of Lebanon. Other activities in which the club participates include sponsoring donkey basketball games each year.

Members participate in various contests such as Parliamentary Procedures, Soil Judging and Welding. All contests are on local, district, state and national levels.

Members attended a State Convention in Klamath Falls during spring vacation.

With close to one hundred members in FFA the organization never seems to run short of activities. FFA has been a very successful club this year in both membership and their many activities.

Ski Club

Providing an opportunity for those interested in skiing to get together with friends and enjoy the slopes and out-of-doors was the purpose of the newly formed Alpine Hotshots Club.

Advisor Jay Holcomb, President Dave Anderlik, Vice-President Annette George, Secretary Nick Busse and Treasurer Judy George planned many activities to keep the club busy. Promises of downhill and cross-country skiing at local lodges provided incentive for members during the pre-season months.

Selling hot dogs at home basketball games, bake sales and Student Center clean-up helped finance the excursions, and a party for Ski Club members at the end of the ski season were all part of the flight plan during the club's first year.

Meetings to discuss events were held on the first and third Mondays of every month.

Health Careers

Health Occupation Students of America helped students prepare themselves for jobs in the health field. This multi-purpose club was designed to help develop respect for education in the health field, to provide opportunities for career choices, to develop competent leadership in health occupations, to encourage ethical behavior in health occupations, develop character training for useful citizenship, foster patriotism and to provide mental and physical health through satisfactory social and recreational activities.

Roberta Nydigger presided over activities aided by Vice-president Debbie Law, Secretary Joan O'Hearn, Treasurer DeAnn Shannon, Jr. Vice-president Judy George, Historians Joan Dadey and Becky Yahnke, Parliamentarian Annette George and Recorder Melanie Bradley. Mrs. Merle Enke advised this community-aware group through their volunteer work at the Bloodmobile, hospital, nursing home, day care center and many other health related activities as well as an annual awards dessert to honor parent and community members who serve the program.

Advisor Mrs. Enke demonstrates that the techniques of being a nurse are easier than Laura Adams thought.

Fellowship Of Christian Teens

To provide unity and fellowship for Christian teens of various churches and to extend this fellowship were set up as a purpose of Fellowship of Christian Teens.

As a very active club Fellowship of Christian Teens had several functions throughout the year such as dinners with special speakers, bible studies, sharings and socials. Christian Teens had several banquets including Thanksgiving, Christmas and an Annual Spring Banquet. Along with all this, they had meetings twice a month on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Jerry Dahlberg was leader of the club serving as president with Dewayne Swezey as vice-president. Sonja Barrett had the responsibility of caring for the minutes of every meeting and Treasurer DeAnn Shannon was in charge of the money transactions.

Mr. Robert Hodson and Mr. Harold Shannon served as co-advisors during the year.

Key Club

Being of service to the school and community was the goal of the Lebanon Chapter of Key Club. Sponsored by Lebanon Kiwanis Club, these lads devoted their year to helping others.

Warren Krager devoted his leadership skills to the club serving as the chief officer. Dave Cox served under him as vice-president with Mike Warren and Dave Stewart filling in the gaps as secretary and treasurer. Advisors for this reputable group were Mr. MacNeill and Father Lamer.

Meetings were held every Thursday as the group planned their projects. Listed under their accomplishments include co-sponsoring a Christmas party for underprivileged children, paper drives, providing much needed clean-up services for the Recycling Center and attending International and Regional meetings. The boys also hosted a Kiwanis meeting and participated in several activities with the Kiwanis Club.

Dave Stewart smiles at the idea of girls helping the Key with their fund raising project.

Keywanettes

Another service club for outstanding individual girls, Keywanettes, made themselves heard in school through their many activities.

Keyed on by President Teresa Spillman, Vice-president Debbie Matz, Secretary Susan Salisbury and Treasurer Janine Braught, the club worked diligently every Saturday after home football games to clean up the stadium and surrounding grounds. The club also sold Homecoming mums, co-sponsored a Christmas party for underprivileged children, cleaned the Student Center, sold suckers, worked at the Goodwill trailer and otherwise kept very busy.

This much needed club was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Lebanon and had as their Kiwanian Advisor, Mr. Richard Triska.

Meetings were held twice a month in room 105 with faculty advisor, Mrs. Gloria Knapp, where much of their talk centered around service activities.

Letterman's Club

Letterman's Club may sound like a lot of title men running around with "W's" and "G's" on their chest, but actually this club is composed of girls and guys who have "letters" in varsity sports. Mr. Roy Humphreys advised this group of letterpeople when they weren't participating in sports.

Wiel Walters captained the team with supporting help from Jennifer Moseman, secretary-treasurer of this group.

The main purpose of this club was to promote spirit and athletic participation among students. Other activities of the group included selling "Warrior" boxer shorts, cleaning the Student Center and patrolling the school to help protect private property in the surrounding area.

Club members also took it upon themselves to keep order and attendance at pep assemblies during the year.

VICA

The Machine Shop Chapter of VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, was organized much the same as the original VICA. One hundred percent participation was the goal for the club officers; President Jim Libra, Vice-President Steve Hummel and Treasurer Bob Boyd. Mr. David Troutman, new to Lebanon, advised the troop in their many activities and supervised the actions of the members.

Since the club was a vocational one, activities centered around job simulated efforts. Building cable and pipe locaters took up the majority of the club's free time. They conducted fund-raisers to finance their undertakings.

Club meetings were held at various rooms around the school on the second Tuesday of each month for the industrial career minded.

"Skillful hands," comments Lee Rankin, "are the secret to success."

Fire Squad

The Fire Squad spent the better part of this year sparking interest in fire protection. Led by President Jacqueline Asher, Vice-president Tom Barreto, Secretary-Treasurer Cindy Johnson and Advisor Mr. Steve Poole, the main objective of this organization was to protect the school from fires and see that people in the building are out safely during fire drills.

The twenty-three member club is made up entirely of juniors and seniors, who must petition to join. The squad is kept active selling and designing programs for sale at football and basketball games, selling miniature pop-poms to athletic promoters, having dinners, bake sales and other money making projects.

Fire Squad also competed in the Firemen's Muster during the Strawberry Fair.

Meeting dates for the anti-pyromania group were every other week on Wednesday.

Fire Chief Jackie Asher makes one last attempt to extinguish Dave Albion.

A. F. S. Club

"Walk together, talk together and generally have fun together" was the motto for the American Field Service Club this year.

Led by President Sandy Wilson, Vice president Mary Kroll, Secretary Cindy Johnson, and Treasurer David James, this club worked in conjunction with the American Field Service adult board to make the Lebanon A.F.S. students feel at home. The club also aided the Lebanon A.F.S. committee in fund-raising and serving at the annual A.F.S. Banquet.

Other "world wide acts" accomplished by the members included construction the A.F.S. float for homecoming, welcoming foreign students to our school, Student Center clean-up, sponsoring a district exchange and conducting various money-making projects.

Advisor for the club was Mr. Gene Eakin who again proved that the many tall people can still fit on one round surface with successful results.

German Club

"Ach Tung! Ich bin ein deutschen Klub Mitglied!" An irate German? No, just a German Club member telling you about German Club, an organization for all German students interested in learning more about the cultural aspects of German speaking nations.

Era Lewis commanded the troops throughout the year with Jill Eiding serving as second in command. Linda Earlywine recorded strategic commands, and Leesa Burr kept track of all expenditures.

Herr Hildebrandt was head of the Reich giving advice when needed.

German Club was relocated this year for better maneuvering position. Every first and third Thursday found the troops engaging in oral warfare, discussing field trips, money making projects, Student Center clean-up and an exciting trip to Portland State University.

All members were required to submit fifty cents for dues and be prepared to have a lot of fun learning about German customs.

"Keeping a smile handy at all times" is Dixie and Bev Dirkses' secret to campus clean-up.

President Donella Walling discusses future club plans with Advisor Mr. Gonzales.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club added a cultural influence to school every third and first Monday nights during the year. Members took turns providing meeting places where students could brush up on their Spanish and learn some of the many customs from Spanish countries.

Study of the Spanish language gained recognition during meeting time with special consideration being given to learning about Spanish culture from different parts of the world.

Donella Walling led the group, assisted by Mark Cunningham as vice-president, Cindy Tyler as secretary, and Robert Bertalot as treasurer. Mr. Gonzales advised and assisted in the learning process.

Celebrating holidays of the Spanish world, taking field trips to view a cultural presentation, learning songs in Spanish, studying folk customs, cooking native foods and money-making projects were only a few of the activities, which filled up their busy year.

Front: Kevin VanSlyke, David Ballinger, Don Stewart, Robert Green, Julie Parr, Phil Gilbert, Richard Green. Forensics

Liking to talk was the pre-requisite of the Forensics Club. Members of this elite group had the honor of participating in speech tournaments throughout Oregon to better themselves in the area of oral communications.

The forensics advisor, chaperone, chauffeur, and sometimes critic, was Mrs. Lorraine Strand. Under her supervision many budding amateurs became stars in their field. As in past years, the forensics team did well in their many tournaments. Several trophies, awards and certificates were captured to add to the already full trophy case.

A variety of speech topics from interpretation and expository to the more difficult oratory, extempory and impromptu offered a challenge to the more than 30 members of the forensics team which boasted ten returning seniors. Several novice speakers also did well this year sparking promise for future forensic teams.

Jackie Asher: "Make like a train and choo."

Manual Communications Club

The Manual Communications Club or Sign Language Club suffered a slight membership lapse at the beginning of the year, but activities like bake sales, field trips, money-making projects and Student Center clean-up soon had fingers flying and students jumping to participate in this educationally oriented club.

The club was organized to instill an awareness of the special language of "sign" and to promote a general knowledge of the meaning behind sign language. Guest speakers and much time spent on practice helped to inspire the members to accomplish these goals.

Capable leadership was provided throughout the year by President Jill Eiding and her sidekicks Vice president Mike Swanson and Secretary/Treasurer Polly Hainz.

Advising techniques demonstrated by Miss Violet Carruth had the club booming into a silent bomb of activity by year's end.

Renee Martin listens while Advisor Miss Violet Carruth gives some suggestions for money-raising projects.

Biology Club

Aquaterra-Inquisitorres? Is that some newly discovered disease, a fish that asks a lot of questions or a typographical error?

Actually, it's Biology Club's new name, not to be confused with the old one of "Seafood Delight" (didn't you ever wonder what they did with all those frogs, sharks, eels and squids?)

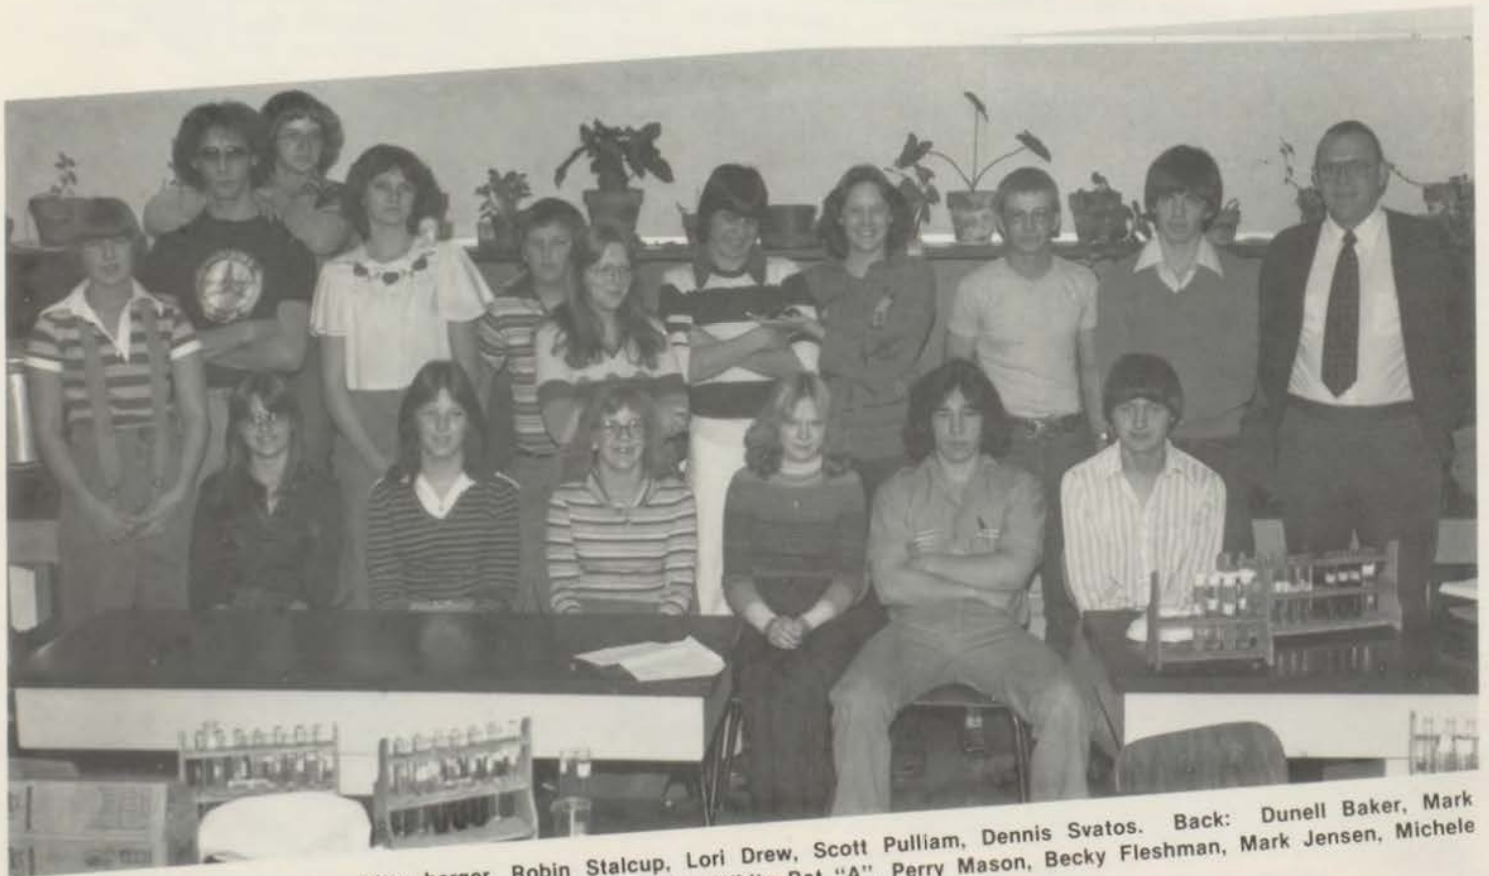

Biology Club's more serious function was to sponsor activities related to biological science that interest students but can't be done in class.

Among those were field trips, seminars and that all time favorite, dissections!

President Bonnie Jarstad led her little group of Awuaterra-Inquisitorres with the help of Vice-president Mark Biederbeck, Treasurer Paul Widman, Historian Wink Zimick and Sgt. At Arms Michelle Henneman.

Dunell Baker and Wink Zimmick hold recent additions to their club.

Front: Darrell Tucker, Robbie Kliewer, Mary Kroll. Back: Mike Mason, Marilyn Dukes, Advisor Mr. Gene Eakin, Kelly Flanagan, Steve Calahan, Allyn Amsk, Joel Bartman.

Chess Team

Little or nothing is actually known about this illustrious group of students. The Chess team is actually organized much like a competitive sport with members vying for top spots on the five varsity boards. Other team members compete at the junior varsity level. Noon and after school practices provided experience time for the players to sharpen skills and brush up on techniques.

Tournaments were held on Monday afternoons during November, December and January with the season continuing for some teams as they journeyed into district and state competitions. Mr. Gene Eakin coached the squad throughout the year. With only three graduating seniors, the chess team promises a strong board of veteran players.

Girls as well as boys recognized the glamour of chess as they competed for positions on the varsity squad.

Mary Kroll psyches her opponent out with the sweet and innocent look.

Metal Work Club

It's the only club in the school with members who "steel" themselves and a President who rules with an "iron" fist. You guessed it, it's Metal Work Club.

The club's purpose is to provide additional activities in metalworking for interested students such as construction of metal items for profit, leadership skills and social activities.

The club was advised by Mr. Hodson with Clyde Greyson serving as President, Mark Natterer, vice-president; Robert, Anderson, secretary and Rick Shurts, treasurer.

Some activities they participated in throughout the year were a Christmas gift sale, promotion of jobs in shop areas and collection of scrap metals for sale.

Tim Boje adds the final touch to his metal work project.

Cindy Ransford takes notes during the VICA club meeting.

VICA

The Vocational Industrial Club of America or VICA enjoyed a prosperous year. Supervised by Mr. Steven Steele, the club's main purpose was to promote interest in the vocational-industrial fields by getting student involvement.

President Rick Pruitt united the group with the help of Steve Hummel vice-president, Corrinne Porter secretary, Cindy Ransford treasurer, Kendal Webb parliamentarian, and Mike Steckler reporter. Meetings were the first and third Tuesday of every month and were held during lunch.

A leadership conference on November fourteenth at the Inn at Otter Crest added to the many regional and state competitions which members competed in to keep the club an active part of the school.

Student Center clean-up and other projects brought financial assistance to the group.

Jets

Jets club was a freewheeling group of pioneers in the science field. Actually the Junior Engineering Technical Society was designed to help students, who are interested in science, preview and acquaint themselves with persons, places and career opportunities in technical fields.

Blue Squadron leaders consisted of Lyle Kendall acting as President, Vice-president Richard Green and Secretary-Treasurer Mark Biederbeck, with Jet command, Advisor Mr. Oglesby, providing resource material.

Jets annually sponsored a science fair which contained science projects and displays on individual research. Field trips to science departments of various universities and industrial companies provided career education opportunities and the chance for students to get a closer look at the world of science.

Social activities with other JETS Clubs from surrounding schools rounded out the year's schedule with fun and frolic in a scientific manner.

Mark Biederbeck searches for the right combination.

Graphic Communications Club

Graphic Communications Club draws its talented members mainly out of drafting classes offered at L.U.H.S.

Club President Mike Steckler and Advisor Mr. John Hughes help finance the club as they take their turn cleaning the Student Center and campus. The club does community service work and for extra credit they will draw a complete set of blue-prints for that certain vacation home you've always wanted to build. Or if you want, the club will draw something simple like a bookcase or end table for your home.

New club members are always in demand but should not feel intimidated if they don't take drafting since it is not required in order to be a member.

Hi-Lite

News, features, information, editorials and sports are what the journalism class provided bi-weekly in the Hi-Lite.

Co-Editors Rod Soule and Jackie Asher headed the staff of ten page editors and about ten writers. Under the direction of advisor Mr. Les Adams the Hi-Lite would offer stories that appealed to students while keeping them up to date with the latest happenings of the school.

Sports Editor Mark Neustal and assistant Gigi Seals covered the fighting warriors from the football field to baseball diamond plus everything in between and then some.

Gary Speals acting as Business Manager stopped the staff from spending too much on parties while collecting the bills for ads sold by Tom Barreto and Shawna Hutchinson.

Stewarts Stew, Marks Remarks and Cindy Johnsons cartoons were among some of the features annually ran in each issue of the Hi-Lite.

Susan Salisbury finds a missing story for the Hi-Lite.

A part of Linn County

In the past 75 years, Willamette Industries has grown from one small mill in the Coast Range of Oregon to a corporation with 58 mills in 14 states. But we haven't forgotten our Linn County friends and neighbors.

We're bigger than ever in Linn County, and our 2,150 local employees spend a major part of their $36.4 million payroll right here at home purchasing goods and services from local merchants.

Our 13 plants and mills and over 67,000 acres of timberland in Linn County contribute over $2.3 million to the maintenance of schools and community services through property taxes.

Our employees are active in Linn County civic and government affairs and volunteer their time to charitable, church and youth programs.

Willamette Industries . . . a part of Linn County.

Wherever you look in Linn County,
Willamette Industries has a lot going!

To the Students and Faculty of L.U.H.S.:

Wow! It's finally over! The book is finally done. I hope this is a book that you will take down from the shelf, dust off and enjoy. High school is full of special moments and great times, and I hope that this book has succeeded in capturing some of those times and moments.

The staff was FANTASTIC!!! A big thanks to all of you. We had a unique opportunity, as high school students, to produce a 288 page yearbook. Not many people get that chance. I think we took our chance and made the most of it. I always (well, almost always) looked forward to coming to this class and especially to working with the people in it. I'd do it again if I could be assured of working with the people I shared it with this time. Thanks, you guys!

Best Wishes !

Your Editor,

Julie Geil
