Physical description of property and statement of historical significance:

This one and a half story Gothic Revival house consists of an original L-shaped plan with a steeply sloped gable roof and a lower wing added on the left that parallels the street. Single-light double-hung windows with cornices and decorative shutters are located in the center gable end and paired directly below. On the right, the front porch has turned posts, a door with a single light on the left and a one over one, double-hung window on the right. The new wing on the left side contains a single window with a five-light transom.

The gable ends on the side facades contain single one over one light, double-hung windows on each floor. There is a small hip roofed addition projecting out from the rear southwest corner of the newer wing. An interior brick chimney with a corbelled cap is located in the center where the new wing meets the older part of the house. The structure is clad with shiplap siding with corner boards.

The neighboring Baptist Church used this home for its minister.
