Physical description of property and statement of historical significance:

This is a one and a half story Queen Anne cottage with a gabled roof and a square floor plan with an east wing added. The original house is clad with horizontal siding and the roof has boxed cornices. There is a hip roof porch on the west and south facades with a diagonal entry on the corner containing a single-light door and a screen decorated with balls and spindles. The chamfered posts remain but the porch floor has been removed. On the west facade there are one/one, double-hung windows on the porch and paired ones in a gable dormer. On the south facade there are two one/one, double-hung windows on the porch. To the west there is an addition which continues the hip roof of the porch, is clad with large shingles and contains two small square windows.

The north facade has a new hip roof, side entry porch with a three-light door. A sliding two-light aluminum frame window is located on the left and above there is a gable dormer containing paired four/four, double-hung windows. Both the north and west facing dormers are additions. The center chimney is stuccoed and the corbeled cap is removed. The east wing is clad with composition shingles and consists of gable and shed roof additions with a garage at the end.

History

The first owner named Phillips built and lived in an early farmstead located just to the south.
